HARDING AND TREADWAY ARE CHOSEN FOR STANDARD-BEARERS BY REPUBLICANS OF OHIO

MARIONITE NOMINATED

Carries Off the Gubernatorial Plum on Third Ballot.

LEADS FROM THE START OF RACE

Harding and Brown Only Are Nominated.

GARFIELD'S NAME NOT PRESENTED

Neither Is Thompson Placed in Nomination.

Longworth Is Sprung as a Dark Horse in Vain—Harding Receives 485 Votes on the First Ballot, Gains Twelve on the Second, and When Hamilton Swings Ninety-One to Harding on the Third, the Fight Is Over, Harding Receiving 716 Votes—Garfield Receives a Small Vote on First and Second Ballots—Scattering Votes Cast Also for Thompson and Foraker. Treadway Named for Lieutenant Governor by Acclamation.

Convention Hall, Columbus, O., July 27.—Warren G. Harding, once lieutenant governor, editor and publisher of Marion county, was nominated for governor of Ohio, today. His nomination was clinched when George B. Cox voted his ninety-one delegates solidly for him.

Pandemonium reigned in the big convention hall when Cox swung his Cincinnati bunch to Harding.

The ninety-six Cuyahoga delegates stuck to Nicholas Longworth. Garfield weakened early in the game. On the third ballot he received a mere five votes. He even refused to allow his name to be presented as a candidate for governor.

The first important war of the convention was the adoption of the regular platform. It went through with practicaly no protest from the minority. President Taft and his administration are endorsed in no uncertain terms.

The big fight for governor over with but a whisper from the Garfield supporters and not even that from Secretary of State Carmi Thompson, who early withdrew, the delegates began voting for the less important candidates.

Francis W. Treadway, of Cleveland, present lieutenant governor, was renominated for the office by acclamation.

Granville W. Mooney, speaker of the house, beat John L. Sullivan in a close fight for the secretary of state nomination. Judges W. B. Crew and Augustus M. Summers were renominated for the supreme bench.

Renick W. Dunlap beat out his opponents for dairy and food commissioner by a slight majority.

John S. McNutt was nominated for clerk of the supreme court by acclamation. Attorney General Denman was also renominated by acclamation.

John W. Zeller has no opposition for state school commissioner.

Rudolph Archer, of Belmont county, won the state treasureship in a close contest with Richard Gilson, of Jefferson county.

George H Watkins was named for member of board of public works, on second ballot.

Dramatic Incident.

Columbus, O., July 27.—While the other Ohio bosses were combining to defeat Judge O. B. Brown, Cox candidate for governor, Cox threw his support to Warren G. Harding, of Marion, on the third ballot and brought about his nomination. It was a dramatic scene in the convention, when Cox arose and declared "Hamilton county casts ninety-one votes for Warren G. Harding."

It was a full minute before the delegates realized what happened, and then the Harding men went wild with enthusiasm.

This happened on the third ballot, after Harding had led on both previous ballots.

Maurice Matschke cast the full Cuyahoga county vote on this ballot and Walter Brown threw his Lucas county votes to Longworth, in order to prevent the nomination of Harding.

Things looked rosy for Longworth. He had received eighty-nine votes on the first ballot, 164 on the second and a big vote was being cast for him all over the state when Cox cast his vote and broke the bubble.

The feeling between Cuyahoga delegation and Cox's men was bitter. Every time Matschke announced the vote of Cuyahoga county, he was hissed by Cox's men "Why didn't you keep your agreement?" they asked.

Called to Order.

Convention Hall, Columbus, O., July 27.—The convention was called to order at 9:55 o'clock by Temporary Chairman Longworth.

The convention opened with prayer by Rev. T. I. Reese, of Trinity Episcopal church, Columbus.

The credentials committee reported no contests.

Senator Burton was made permanent chairman. The rest of the temporary organization was made permanent.

Garfield's name will not be presented to the convention. The chances are there will be no minority report on resolutions and the regulars will have it all their own way.

Senator Dick began reading the report of the committee on resolutions at 10:30 o'clock.

THE TICKET.

For Governor—Warren G. Harding, of Marion.

For Lieutenant Governor—Francis W. Treadway, of Cuyahoga.

For Secretary of State—Granville W. Mooney, of Ashtabula.

For Treasurer—R. W. Archer, of Belmont.

For Attorney General—U. G. Denman, of Lucas.

For Supreme Judges—Augustus N. Summers, of Clark, and William B. Crew, of Morgan.

For Clerk of Supreme Court—John S. McNutt, of Columbiana.

For Dairy and Food Commissioner—Renick Dunlap, of Pickaway.

For State School Commissioner—John W. Zeller, of Hancock.

For Member Board of Public Works—George H. Watkins, of Scioto.

The platform as presented by Senator Dick was adopted by the convention without the sign of a fight from the progressive forces. Only a few "noes" were heard when a viva voce vote was called for.

The call for nominations for governor passed Cuyahoga county without mention of Garfield.

When Marion was reached, Grant E. Mouser, ex-congressman, named Warren G. Harding, of Marion.

Robert R. Nevin, of Montgomery, named Judge Oren Britt Brown, of Dayton.

"Who is Judge Brown?" asked Nevin, and like a flash came "The Cox candidate," and there was a turmoil of cheers, genuine and ironical, and cries of "Who is Cox?—the boss of Ohio."

Carmi Thompson's name was not presented to the convention, and the balloting began with only Brown and Harding in the race.

First Ballot.

The result of the first ballot for governor was: Harding, 485; Brown, 413; Garfield, 72; Longworth, 92; Denman, 2; Thompson, 1.

Necessary to nomination, 534.

Second Ballot.

The official result of the second ballot was: Harding, 497; Brown, 363; Longworth, 161; Garfield, 38; Foraker, 4.

Harding on Third.

The third ballot resulted: Harding, 716; Brown, 120; Longworth, 195; Garfield, 5.

Up into the Air.

On the third ballot Cuyahoga voted Longworth ninety-six.

Hamilton county votes ninety-one for Harding.

Franklin county voted Brown twenty-five, Harding six, Longworth twenty-one.

Cox's vote for Harding threw Burton and the other bosses and the Longworth boom into the air.

The convention went clear up in the air when George B. Cox rose in his seat and cast Hamilton county's ninety-one votes for Warren G. Harding, thus killing off the play of Senator Burton to force the nomination of Nicholas Longworth from Cox's own county.

R. R. Nevin, of Montgomery county, moved to make the nomination of Warren G. Harding unanimous. It carried with cheers.

Harding just came into the hall, escorted by Cox, Maschke and Nevin.

Harding Promises Victory.

The convention gave Harding, the nominee, a real ovation.

"Victory next November," Harding promised at once. Loud yells. "We are for William H. Taft and his policies. The Republican party represents the best conscience of our new-world civilization. If I am elected, the first attribute demanded of every man seeking a place will be that he is genuinely honest. We promise that this state shall be economically administered."

Harding, big, handsome, with a fine voice and plenty of English at command, satisfied the delegates.

Treadway Is Named.

Paul Howland presented Lieutenant Governor Francis W. Treadway, of Cuyahoga, for renomination. He was nominated by acclamation.

Mooney for Secretary of State.

H. E. Starkey, of Ashtabula county, presented Granville W. Mooney for secretary of state. Mooney is the present speaker of the house.

James W. Halfhill, of Allen county, presented the name of John L. Sullivan, of Auglaize county, for secretary of state.

The official ballot on secretary of state: Mooney, 616; Sullivan, 150.

Archer for Treasurer.

For treasurer of state, R. W. Archer, of Belmont county, and Richard Gilson, of Jefferson county, were presented.

The official vote for treasurer of state was: Archer, 628; Gilson, 137; J. C. Roeser, of Shelby county, one.

Denman Is Renominated.

John W Dowd, of Toledo, named Attorney General U. G. Denman, of Lucas, for renomination. Denman was renominated by acclamation.

Supreme Judgeship.

Congressman J. Warren Keifer, wearing his customary dress suit, named Judge Augustus N. Summers, of Clark county, for renomination as supreme judge. Congressman Ralph Cole named Silas E. Harris, of Hancock county, Freeman T. Eagleson, of Guernsey county, named Judge William B. Crew, of Morgan county, for renomination. Two are to be nominated.

Judges Summers and Crew renominated for supreme judges. The official result of the ballot for supreme judges was: Bradbury, 39, Harris, 50; Summers, 749; Crew, 839.

Clerk Supreme Court.

John S. McNutt, of Columbiana county, was renominated by acclamation for clerk of the supreme court.

Food and Dairy Commissioner.

Brigham S Young, of Hardin county; Dr Harry W. Blair, of Knox county, and Renick Dunlap, of Pickaway, the present commissioner, were proposed for state food and dairy commissioner.

The official vote for state food and dairy commissioner was: Dunlap, 589; Young, 121; Blair, 56.

Board Public Works.

For the board of public works, Frank J. McCulloch, of Logan county, James C Foster, of Ross county, and George H. Watkins, of Scioto county, were presented.

The official result of the first ballot for member of the state board of public works was: Watkins, 532; McCulloch, 350; Foster, 184. Watkins needs two votes.

An effort to suspend the rules and nominate Watkins by acclamation was hooted down, and a second ballot ordered but he was nominated on the second ballot.

The second ballot resulted: Watkins, 689, McCulloch, 194; Foster, 74.

Three Ohioans Killed.

Warsaw, Ind., July 28.—Pennsylvania passenger train, No. 37, struck an automobile at 9 o'clock this morning west of this city, killing Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brooks and Mrs Ed Shoring, of Lima, Ohio.

WARREN G. HARDING,
Today Nominated by the Republicans of Ohio for Governor.

FRANCIS W. TREADWAY,
Nominated for Lieutenant Governor by the Republicans of Ohio Today.

SENATOR DICK IS THE VICTOR

Wins in Fight To Head the Committee.

WINS HANDILY OVER INSURGENT

Platform Blank Endorsement of President.

Walter Brown, of Toledo, Is Reelected Chairman of State Republican Central Committee — Hundreds Are Unable To Gain Admission to Big Convention Hall When It Opens, This Morning.

Columbus, O., July 27. This morning's session of the Republican state convention was played to "standing room only," hundreds of ticket holders being unable to gain admission to Memorial hall, although they had besieged the outer doors for hours before the time set for the opening of the meeting. Owing to the confusion following the eating of the immense crowd it was considerably after 10 o'clock when the session began.

The convention was called to order by Temporary Chairman Longworth, and after prayer by Rev. Theodore Irving Reese the committees selected at the district meetings were announced. The committee on permanent organization announced that they had selected Senator Burton as permanent chairman of the convention and Representative Longworth at once surrendered the gavel.

In the committee on resolutions the contest over the chairmanship was quickly settled Senator Dick winning over Representative Paul Howland of Cleveland by the decisive vote of 35 to 3. Congressman Cole of Findlay was made secretary.

Walter Brown Re-Elected.

Walter F. Brown of Toledo was reelected chairman of the state committee and L. N. Foster, member from the Eleventh district, was made secretary.

The report of the resolutions committee was a stand-pat document to the core. It gave a blanket indorsement to the Taft administration and the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. The Roosevelt policies were also [illegible]

The state issues urged by James R. Garfield were adopted in toto, with the exception of the sections dealing with child labor laws, the canals and the recall.

The actual work of drafting the platform was entrusted to a subcommittee consisting of Senator Dick, Congressmen Keifer, Cole, Taylor and Howland, State Senator Clevinger and R. W. Hemicka, who reported a rough draft to the committee, which was adopted after a few minor changes had been made. The committee was in session all night.

George B. Cox created quite a stir when he announced that in the event that delegates refused to come over to his candidate, Judge Brown of Dayton, he would throw his influence to Garfield, the Cleveland progressive.

PASTOR ADVERTISES FOR GOOD POSITION

He Serves Thirty Years as Missionary in Foreign Lands.

New York, July 28.—After thirty years of work as a missionary in foreign lands, the Rev. A. H. Lambert, of the Methodist Episcopal church, is, today, awaiting replies to the following advertisement which he placed in New York papers:

"Minister, good standing, married, wants work; watchman or timekeeper preferred."

Two years ago, Rev. Lambert came to the United States from South America, lured by the hope that he would be able to do "wonderful things in this wonderful country."

"But I found that missionaries are not sought here," he said, "and that the churches are oversupplied with pastors. I have three children and a wife to care for and I must do something."

Lambert is a linguist of unusual ability and he said that several of his temporary employers sought to take advantage of this by having him sell questionable stocks among foreign residents.

ONE MAN INSTANTLY KILLED IN THE RIOT

American Sugar Refinery Company Drivers Strike.

New York, July 28.—One unidentified man was instantly killed, three fatally shot, one seriously shot and more than a score beaten in a riot on the pier of the American Sugar Refinery company, Brooklyn, today.

More than 10,000 persons gathered in the vicinity and police reserves from all sections of the city were rushed to the spot to prevent further outbreaks.

All the injured men are strikers and it is said that the fatal shots were fired by fifty armed special policemen who were detailed to guard sixty strike-breaking drivers sent to the docks, today. More than a score of shots were fired during the rioting, which was participated in by 800 strikers and their sympathizers, and the fifty special officers and sixty strike-breakers.

SNAPPING TURTLE A GAS INSPECTOR

Bites Off Gas Pipe and Fumes Kill Chickens and Pigs.

South Norwalk, Conn., July 28.—Funeral ceremonies for 100 chickens and three pigs were conducted behind the barn of Herman Jacobs, today, and a snapping turtle that endeavored to qualify as a gas meter inspector is being fattened for slaughter as the result.

Jacobs captured the turtle some time ago and tied him to a stake in the back yard. The turtle broke loose and made for the gas meter in the barn. In his investigations he bit off the gas pipe close to the meter and the chickens and pigs were asphyxiated.

Two farmhands who endeavored to rescue the unfortunates were sickened by the fumes.

SOCIALISTIC LEADER IS OPERATED UPON

Eugene V. Debs Will Be Confined to Room Only Few Days.

Rochester, Minn., July 28.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialistic leader, underwent an operation at St. Mary's hospital here, today. The operation was performed by the Doctors Mayo.

The nature or cause of the operation was not divulged, but the Mayos declare it was not serious and that the patient will be confined to his bed not more than three days and will then recuperate at a local hotel.

Mrs. Debs accompanied her husband and will remain with him during his convalescence.

THE PLATFORM OF REPUBLICANS

Adopted in Their Convention This Morning.

SHOWS RECORD OF GOOD OLD PARTY

Achievements of the Present Administration.

Takes Up the Matter of Foreign Policy, the Tariff, New Railroad Law and Other Important Legislation—Declares Continued Confidence in Party Is Deserved. Taft Warmly Commended.

Columbus, O., July 27.—Following is the text of the resolutions presented to the Ohio Republican state convention today by Senator Dick as chairman of the committee on resolutions:

We, the Republicans of Ohio in state convention assembled, commend in highest terms the splendid administration of William H. Taft, are proud of the results he has already achieved in his 17 months in office, and pledge him our hearty and united support in his further efforts as chief executive of the nation. We renew our pledge of loyal support given him in 1908 and endorse him for renomination in 1912.

The Issues.

No campaign in Ohio can be fought on purely state issues when the election of congressmen and a United States senator is involved.

Record of Republican Party.

The Republican party has been the party of action and progress and achievement from Lincoln to Taft, covering half a century of our national history. It saved the national unity, freed a race, resumed specie payments, established the national credit, fixed the gold standard, restored prosperity ruined by Democratic legislation and administration, has proved equal to every emergency, and will provide the additional legislation the country requires.

What the Taft Administration Has Achieved.

Among the many accomplishments of President Taft's administration worthy of special praise are:

Prosecution and conviction of those implicated in the sugar frauds against the government, and other violators of federal statutes.

Prompt and successful intervention to prevent arbitrary increases in railroad freight rates.

Effective enforcement of the law against illegal dealing in stocks.

Indictment of those involved in the cotton pool, formed to raise the price of one of the necessities of life in every American family.

Impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

Substantial reduction in government expenses, saving a million dollars a month in the postoffice department, with a fair promise of wiping out the annual postal deficit.

Such remarkable progress in the construction of the Panama canal as insures its early completion.

Withdrawal from private entry in order to preserve for the public benefit valuable coal and other mineral deposits, timber lands and water-power sites, of over 71,000,000 acres of the public domain.

Our Foreign Policy.

It has strengthened our prestige with foreign nations, and has treated with vigor and wisdom important and delicate international problems. It has dealt justly and liberally with our dependencies.

Record of the Sixty-first Congress.

The record of achievement of this administration and the Sixty-first congress is unequalled in our history, and guarantees faithful adherence to all the pledges of the last Republican national platform. The election of a Republican congress next November is imperatively necessary to accomplish the entire program of the Taft administration.

The Tariff.

The tariff has been revised in ac-

SPANISH EXILES ARE GATHERING

Are Ready To Invade Their Own Country

THE REBELLION STILL GROWING

The Invaders Will Join Forces with Strikers

Just How Many Exiles Will March to Barcelona It Is Impossible To Tell but Senor Claramont the Rebel Leader Says There Will Be 20,000—Troops Are Being Sent to Barcelona To Keep Order

Cerbere French Spanish frontier July 27 Several hundred well armed desperate Spaniards are gathered today on the French side of the frontier ready to cross and then own country on July 29

In Barcelona the industrial center of Spain a general strike and a mammoth anti government demonstration has been planned for the same day

The invaders intend to march straight to Barcelona to join forces with the strikers The government has been concentrating troops for two weeks and the sending of 10 000 veterans into Barcelona yesterday was probably the first step toward putting down the rebellion with an iron hand There is every prospect of desperate fighting between the exiles and the government forces and the disorders that are expected all over Catalonia will probably exceed in bloodshed last summers rioting Many people doubt indeed if the years revolt will be crushed out before the present Spanish dynasty is overthrown

Just how many exiles will join in the march from here upon Barcelona it is impossible to determine Senor Claramont the leader of the rebels, says there will be 20 000 His estimate is probably too high, but it is a fact that the men have been reporting here for more than a month and that already 8 000 or 10 000 are on the scene Officials of the Maura administration in Spain admitted recently in the cortes that 10 000 Spaniards were exiled from Barcelona for complicity in the last summer outbreak Few of them went further than the French frontier settling here in the hope that one day they might re enter Spain

Situation Is Ominous

The main question is whether Claramont and his aides can hold the rank and file together in the face of the formidable showing Alfonso's seasoned troops are sure to make The usual opinion here is that they will succeed The rebel hand consist mainly of Catalonians the best fighters in all Spain and most of them are already assured in the Spanish army

The proclamation issued by the new formal demand from the exiles themselves for a general amnesty for last summers outbreak Knowing that the exiles are made up of the irreconcilables the government refused Claramont then upon receive notice that unless the government yielded by July 29 he would resort to force

The general strike at Barcelona was decided upon for the express purpose of aiding the movement by giving the government trouble to look after at home the same time the invasion begins on the border The unity with which the city's population generally conducts a strike leaves no doubt that it will be an exceedingly dangerous affair Large quantities of arms ammunition and bombs it is said have been secreted in the city in readiness for an uprising

Although the situation is ominous Count Wolf the Spanish ambassador at Berlin declares it does not alarm the government that it will resort to drastic measures to put down the trouble with the extent and completeness of the military precautions he has taken suggest that he speaks optimistically

Head of Anti Saloon League Gives Statement

WILL TAKE NO HAND IN STATE CAMPAIGN

Believes Harmon's Influence Defeats Black Bill

While the League Will Keep Hands Off the State Tickets It Will Make a Hard Fight in the Counties for Electing Men to Legislature—Wheeler Says League Will Be Neutral

Columbus O July 30 Wayne B Wheeler superintendent of the Anti Saloon League issued a statement today in which he declares that the Anti Saloon League will take no hand in the coming state campaign unless it appears to its interests

The league will be neutral said Wheeler Of course if the liquor interests come out and take a position against the Democratic candidate for governor then the league may become active in the campaign We are usually found on the other side of the fence from the liquor interests

WOMAN COMPELLED TO SELL HER HOME

Selling to Negro Family Stirs Situation

Keeping the Rooster Is Bad Enough but When Mrs Christopher Sells Home to Negroes the Fashionable Residents Make Complaint and Matters Are Made Very Unpleasant—No Restrictions in Deed

New York July 27 The residents of exclusive Kingsbridge Terrace are today talking of a meeting, suits for and broken and other things because Mrs Sarah Hunter Christopher has sold her home to a negro family They say the negro family will have to be asked to move from the district Mrs Christopher who has spent a good part of her life in the mining camps of British Columbia and has a mind of her own says she isn't built

My neighbors weren't kind to me so I sold my house My neighbors wouldn't pay me the $1 000 I asked so I sold to a negro family He'll come about be miserable and friend cut my fine rooster Chanticleer was lustily lunged and the neighbors in a board of health inspector round to tell me I couldn't keep the beautiful old fellow Well I gave him away but as all my neighbors had chickens I couldn't see why I should keep some Put among the chickens here happened to be four young roosters and when they attained their majority they too began crowing Another visit from the inspector I killed the roosters

Things Unpleasant

The workmen blasting near my home broke the water pipe in my front yard so that every time I took my tub the water oozed up from the sidewalk

Again the neighbors sent around the inspector

They made things so unpleasant for me that I decided to sell my home

The neighbors say every known restriction was put into the original deeds for property in Kingsbridge Terrace because they didn't think any one would dare to ill to the colored people They are talking of injunctions and all other kind of legal complications to keep the negroes from upsetting the pretty little colony when Mrs Christopher and her family leave

REPUBLICANS ARE PLEASED

Satisfied with the Ticket and Platform

SULLIVAN'S DEFEAT CAUSES COMMENT

Burton Too Late in Making Up His Mind.

Arthur L Garford Is Touted as Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee To Run the Coming Campaign—Harding May Meet Committee at Cedar Point Soon and Talk Matters Over

Columbus O July 28—About everybody who had anything to do with the Republican state convention has left town except a few fellows who always stay behind to read the obituary notices and tell the uninformed on the street corners how it all happened

The Republicans at the state house are largely regular and appear to be satisfied with both the ticket and the platform Progressives of the Roosevelt type however seemed to have a few sore spots, they don't relish their stay hitch every time the name of Warren G Harding is mentioned and they are not satisfied with the tariff and administration endorsement planks in the platform They are willing to admit that Harding has wide personal popularity in Ohio and is a great campaigner but they wanted an out and out progressive to head the ticket

One can still hear anything he wants to While regular Republicans praise and say their ticket will sweep the state the Democrats profess to believe that the Harmon ticket will have easy sailing this fall They make no secret of the fact that they will try to align the Republican progressive against the Harding ticket

Reports from Sagamore Hill that Roosevelt is disappointed in the platform and not especially enthusiastic over the nominee for governor and that he will not come into the state during the campaign are somewhat disconcerting to Republican quarters and likewise pleasing to the Democrats President Taft's endorsement of both Harding and the platform, on the other hand have been sources of encouragement to those on the ticket

Sullivan's Defeat

Before leaving Columbus George B Cox the Cincinnati boss said he would support the ticket from top to bottom Prior to Wednesday morning Cox had shown no partisanship enthusiasm for Harding but his own action in the [illegible] the nine vote from Hamilton county to Harding on the third ballot thereby making the latter's nomination practically put him in a position where he was forced to show interest in Harding

Old friends of Senator Foraker are mightily pleased with Hardings nomination Harding is one of Foraker's stand-bys Close observers can see that either Senators Dick or Burton gained anything in the convention Dick wanted a senatorial endorsement worse than anything else but he didn't get it Burton couldn't make up his mind on the governorship until the last minute and then Cox of Cincinnati out generaled him and put Longworth the Burton choice out of the running

The defeat of former State Printer John I Sullivan is causing much [illegible] around the state house Sullivan says it was the Republican members of the lower branch of the legislature who beat him There are some forty representatives in the convention and practically every one of them got his bunch of votes for Speaker Mooney

Arthur L Garford is touted as chairman of the Republican executive committee to run the coming campaign The state central committee is scheduled to meet at Cedar Point soon Harding will be there and will be consulted in the matter it is said

Starving, They Try To Defraud Uncle Sam.

WANT PASSAGE TO FLOWERY KINGDOM

Government Suspects Conspiracy Long Time.

Plan Is for Chinese To Cross the American Border from Mexico, Surrender Themselves to Government Officials and Be Sentenced to a Free Trip Home—Two Letters Betray the Neat Scheme.

Washington July 28—Just across the Mexican border tens of thousands of starving Chinese are joining in conspiracy to induce the United States government by fraud, to pay their passage back to China

The conspiracy has long been suspected and recent arrests of Chinese who had crossed into Arizona brough the facts to light This information is contained in two letters now in the possession of the department of commerce and labor, sent by Chinese prisoners now held in jail at Tucson, Arizona, on a charge of violating the Chinese exclusion laws

Labor conditions in Mexico, according to these letters have become so bad that even a Chinese can not make his living there The Chinese, however found themselves denied the right to enter the United States and did not have sufficient funds to return to China Starvation or suicide confronts them, the letters say

A plan was evolved whereby the Chinese were to cross the American border, surrender themselves to the United States immigration officers and be sentenced to the free trip home This would cost Uncle Sam $ 0 per head

Two letters sent by prisoners to the six companies who look after the interests of Chinese here were intercepted by the officials

One letter says in part "We people small and insignificant as ants, prie on our knees petitioning our great minister (The head of one of these companies and not the Chinese minister)

Old Law Enforced.

The United States has enacted a new law and instead of shipping our countrymen back to China is sending them to Mexico They never had such a law before It has never even been advertised in the newspapers They did it all secretly

Over in Mexico there are still tens of thousands of our countrymen who have no work and who are looking forward to smuggling themselves into the United States submit to arrest and be deported to China If this course is closed, many of them will have to commit suicide by hanging themselves or die of starvation

"Have pity on us and deliver us from starvation in this country By accomplishment of this you will be blessed in your ten thousandth generation

This letter was signed by twenty of the Chinese prisoners in Tucson and was addressed to a Chinese newspaper in San Francisco

Another letter says "In Nogales whenever any of you desire to smuggle yourselves over to the United States take provisions and water with you United States territory is 3 miles When arrested by an immigration officer tell him you were born in the United States and then you might get deported to China

I did not get here in time the letter ends sadly "I came just about the time they changed the law It is indeed too bad

As a matter of fact there is no new law It is simply that Assistant Secretary Cable has ordered the old law strictly interpreted and enforced

The United States already had footed a big steamship bill for Chinese before the fraud was suspected

FARMER KILLED IN OLD SCHOOL-HOUSE

Lightning Ends Life of a Man Near Ashley, Ohio

Delaware O July 28—Dan Prekenridge thirty-eight, was struck by lightning and killed last night in an old schoolhouse about five miles west of Ashley, where he had taken refuge from the storm while cutting oats in his field

His body was found some hours later by his wife He is survived by his wife and two small children

The United Fruit company is beginning work on its 7 528 acres recently purchased in British Honduras It is expected that before many months a steamer load of 20,000 bunches of bananas will be shipped from the pier

PEERLESS ONE STILL FIGHTS

Bryan Talks Concerning His Defeat.

DISAPPOINTED, BUT NOT DISCOURAGED

Still Firm Believer in County Option.

Bryan Will Now Seek To Secure the Nomination of Democratic Candidates for the Legislature Who Are Favorable to a County-Option Law—He Issues Statement About the Matter.

Lincoln, Neb., July 28.—Although defeated at the Grand Island convention in his efforts to force a county option plank into the Democratic platform, W. J. Bryan has not dropped his fight. He will now seek to secure the nomination of Democratic candidates of the legislature favorable to a county option law, withholding his support from candidates at the primaries who oppose the option plan. In a statement, today, Bryan said:

"While the failure of the Democratic convention to endorse county option was disappointing, still the fight for county option in the Democratic party has not been in vain. In the first place, it has helped to secure a declaration in favor of the initiative and referendum in both parties, and now that all parties have declared for it, there is no doubt of the necessary amendment being submitted at the next session of the legislature. The only thing that remains to be done on this subject is to pledge every candidate on all tickets to support the initiative and referendum, and this ought to be attended to.

"The candidate who refuses to pledge himself to support the initiative and referendum not only declares himself against the rule of the people, but repudiates the platform of his party.

Sees Big Advantage.

"If the Democratic party convention had endorsed county option, the issue would have been eliminated from our campaign for state officers, congressmen and senators. But even as it is, it will not be a controlling fator, except in the case of governor.

"I believe the Democrats have a great advantage in the discussion of national issues and that advantage ought to be used to secure as many Democratic congressmen from this state as possible. It is fortunate that we have the Oregon plan of senatorship. Every legislative candidate should be urged to pledge himself to vote for the senatorial candidate receiving the largest number of votes, and in this way we can to a great extent eliminate the county option question in the selection of a senator. The Democrats ought to elect a United States senator. Mr. Burkett is opposed by a large and influential element in his own party, and from this element we ought to draw enough votes to insure the success of the Democratic candidate. The county option question will cut some figure in the election of the governor, but if we can succeed in electing a county option legislature, a governor in all probability will be elected who will either favor county option or be pledged to sign the bill.

"There is no reason why any Democrat should be discouraged or lose interest in the fight."

SURE THAT RAWN COMMITS SUICIDE

This Comes Out at the First Session of Coroner's Inquest.

Chicago, July 28.—That Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon railroad committed suicide was made practically certain at the first session of the coroner's inquest, which did not end until early, today. Pinkerton detectives, hired by the family to discover clews of the supposed murderer, admitted that they had no evidence to substantiate such a theory, and that the shooting could not have been accidental, because of a safety clutch on the revolver.

Mrs. Rawn, the widow, declared for the first time that she believed Rawn met death from his own gun while struggling with an intruder, but admitted there was no evidence of the doors or windows having been tampered with.

No mention was made of the alleged conection of Rawn with the Illinois Central car repair graft and that will probably be taken up, tonight, when the inquest is resumed.

Flower pot stains on window sills may be removed by rubbing with fine wood ashes, afterward rinsing with clean water.

Baffled.

Two brothers were once at Count von Moltke's house at an evening party. Both were captains of the general staff. The general came up to a group of gentlemen, one of whom was one of the brothers. After joining in the conversation he said to the latter: "Just tell me who is that tall officer near the fireplace on the other side. I forget his name."

"That's my brother, your excellency," was the answer.

A smile stealing over the general's face suggested the idea that he had not obtained the information he wished. Some time after the general went to another group of people and there joined the officer whose name he had inquired. Suddenly the others saw him turning away, with the same smile on his face.

Afterward, when they inquired from the young officer what the general had asked him, he replied:

"He asked me who that officer was over there."

"And what did you say?"

"I said that he was my brother?"

The general gave up inquiring the name of the two brothers for that evening.

GRANTED STAY OF EXECUTION

Swan Not To Meet His Death Tomorrow.

FEAR THAT GAME WARDEN IS KILLED

Census Man Says Columbus Figures Are Shy.

Farmer Accidentally Kills Himself Near Mt. Vernon—Newark Lynching Report Is Delayed—Twelve Hurt in Cleveland—Massillon Man Burns Home—Wife Murderer Is Jailed in Columbus.

Columbus, O., July 28.—William T. Swan, condemned colored murderer of Chillicothe, will not be electrocuted tomorrow. Secretary George S. Long received a message from Governor Harmon granting a stay of the execution of sentence until Sept. 2. Swan's case had been taken before the state pardon board, but the board has not yet reported. Swan was convicted on the charge of murdering a colored woman and child.

Fear Game Warden Killed.

Athens, O., July 28.—Joe Hibbard, a deputy fish and game warden, has been missing for over a week, and some fear is expressed over his whereabouts. It is thought by some that worry over the loss of a prisoner a couple of weeks ago may have led to suicide. Others think he might have been made away with by foreigners from whom he confiscated several nets and seines.

Says Columbus Figures Shy.

Columbus, O., July 28.—Census Supervisor J. E. Todd of the Twelfth congressional district declared the report sent from Washington, giving the Columbus census as 181,548, to be approximately 1,000 short of the correct figure. He said he would file a remonstrance and if necessary go to Washington to have a recanvass made there.

Farmer Accidentally Shoots Self.

Mt. Vernon, O., July 28.—Scott W. Myers, 58, accidentally shot and killed himself at his home in Milford township. Hearing a chicken hawk in his poultry lot, he picked up a shotgun and went out to kill it. In his haste he attempted to climb over a gate, which fell under his weight, and the gun was discharged.

Lynching Report Delayed.

Newark, O., July 28.—Contrary to expectations, the grand jury will probably not finish its labors before the end of the week. It was thought that the examination regarding the recent lynching in this city would be finished and the jury make its report today. Seventeen additional witnesses have been summoned.

Make Columbus Man Secretary.

Sandusky, O., July 28.—Ohio's Perry's victory centennial commission, in session at Put-In-Bay, adopted the plans of John Elsenmann, the Cleveland architect, for the monument to be erected to Perry's memory, and unanimously elected Webster P. Huntington of Columbus secretary.

Twelve Injured In Wreck.

Cleveland, O., July 28.—Twelve persons were injured, one probably fatally, when a St. Clair avenue streetcar was struck by an outward-bound Pennsylvania train at the Thirty-eighth street grade crossing. The streetcar was hurled from the tracks and smashed into splinters.

Woman Killed by Medicine.

Wooster, O., July 28. — Mrs. Lulu Hanna, 35, wife of Dr. J. C. Hanna of Big Prairie, is dead from an overdose of headache medicine taken for headache. Mrs. Hanna was found unconscious by her husband and, although everything possible was done to revive her, all efforts were in vain.

Burns Home While Insane.

Massillon, O., July 28.—Driven insane by the heat, Ferdinand Lohr, 68, a farmer, drove his 72-year-old wife from the house, set the building on fire and jumped into the 30-foot well. Two feet of water broke the fall and Lohr was taken out bruised. The house burned down.

Wife Murderer Jailed.

Columbus, O., July 28.—Carl Cly, who shot and killed his wife a week ago and then shot himself in the shoulder in an effort to end his own life, was removed from Mt. Carmel hospital to the city prison. He was arraigned in police court today on a charge of murder.

Goes West to Marry.

Delaware, O., July 28.—Miss Miriam Keener of this city was married in Hewett Ida., to F. H. Schweitzer, former popular Ohio Wesleyan football star. Schweitzer is now a building contractor.

Chided Boy Commits Suicide.

Hamilton, O., July 28.—Norman Otten, 17, committed suicide at his home at Jones Station. His father, Nath Otten, chided him for sleeping late, and the youth swallowed carbolic acid.

Ground to Pieces by Train.

Lancaster, O., July 28.—Willie East tried to board a freight train and was ground to pieces under the wheels.

WARSHIPS LOOK FOR SURVIVORS

Eighty-Two Persons Are Reported Missing from Steamer.

Tokyo, July 27.—Warships which have been searching for survivors of the wreck of the passenger steamer, Tetsurei Maru, which went ashore off the Korean coast, report, today, that fifty passengers, four soldiers and twenty-eight members of the crew of the vessel are still missing and probably lost.

Value of Good Humor.

It is not great calamities that embitter existence; it is the petty vexations, the small jealousies, the little disappointments, the "minor miseries," that make the heart heavy and the temper sour. Don't let them. Anger is a pure waste of vitality. It helps nobody, and hinders everybody. It is always foolish, and always disgraceful, except in some cases when it is kindled by seeing wrong done to another; and even that "noble rage" seldom mends the matter.

No woman does her best except when she is cheerful. A light heart makes nimble hands, and keeps the mind free and alert. No misfortune is so great as one that sours the temper. Till cheerfulness is lost, nothing is lost.—Woman's Life.

Substitute for Wall Paper.

Among the peculiar substitutes for wall paper is that used in one of the New York art galleries. It is nothing but a huge rag carpet of neutral tone that covers the entire wall space. "I had it woven especially for this purpose," said the owner, "and my pictures never had a better setting, though I am bound to admit that the carpet attracts as much attention as the paintings."

Pious Suicide.

It was stated at an inquest held at Lindfield, Sussex, England, that prior to committing suicide, Edward Lambert read the burial service himself and recited the hymn "Abide With Me."

HARDING LIKED BY PRESIDENT

Taft Hears News of Columbus Convention.

HE SPEAKS WELL OF MARION MAN

Considers Him Good Man To Make Fight.

President Tells Friends Harding Is a Forceful Man and Good Orator. Nominee Is Entirely Acceptable to Taft—President Keeps Promise Not To Support Any Candidate and Marionite Wins.

Biddeford Pool, Me., July 28.—The news that Warren G. Harding of Marion had been nominated by the Buckeye Republican convention came to President Taft by wireless from Beverly. When he stepped ashore here the president told friends who met him that he considered Harding a good man to make the fight for governor. Mr. Taft thinks Harding is a forceful man and the best orator in Ohio with the exception of Former Senator Joseph B. Foraker. He is entirely acceptable to the president.

It became known here that Mr Taft never was opposed to the candidacy of James R. Garfield nor in fact to any of the other candidates. Some persons were telling how Harding went to see the president at the White House last winter. He had heard rumors then that Mr. Taft would support Garfield. "I'm not going to support anybody's candidacy" the president is reported as saying then.

"Well," Harding is said to have answered, "if that is so, Mr. President, I'll be the next governor of Ohio."

Has Nothing To Say.

Oyster Bay, July 28. — Colonel Roosevelt received the news of the Ohio contest without a word of comment. As soon as the convention wires flashed the results of the tangle into Oyster Bay, several reporters hiked for Sagamore Hill and told the colonel what had happened. Always a good listener, Mr. Roosevelt asked for what details were obtainable and he drank them in without passing any comment. It was difficult to tell just how he felt.

"Well, colonel, what do you think of it?" came the first question. "I have nothing to say. Not a word."

MESSENGER FAMILY HOLDS ITS REUNION

At the Everett Messenger Grove North of Big Island.

SEVENTY-FIVE MEMBERS OF FAMILY PRESENT

Occasion Is One of the Most Enjoyable the Family Has Experienced. Sumptuous Dinner at the Noon Hour—Officers Are Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The twelfth annual reunion of the Messenger family was held in the Everett Messenger grove, two miles north of Big Island, Thursday. About seventy-five descendants of the family were in attendance, and the occasion was one of the most enjoyable ever held by the family.

After a sumptuous picnic dinner at the noon hour, when the entire company was seated at one long table, a very interesting program was enjoyed.

The address of welcome was given by the president, Everett Robinson, and was responded to by M. G. Smith. Everett Messenger led in prayer, and the company sang a song. Miss Pfieffer, of Meeker, rendered a musical number after which the secretary's report was read and approved. Mrs. Newton McDorman read the family history and the program closed with short addresses by different members.

The following officers for the next year were elected:

J. E. Messenger, president; C. W. Messenger, vice president; Grace Messenger, secretary; Mrs. Newton McDorman, historian; W. H. Warrington, assistant historian.

The executive committee appointed is composed of S. E. Shepherd, M. G. Smith, Everett Messenger, Jr., Henry Messenger and John Dickason.

Those attending the reunion from a distance were Mrs. Amy Smith, of Ottawa, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs Newton Messenger and children and M. G. Smith and daughter, of Upper Sandusky; Mrs. Newton McDorman, of Harrod; Everett Robinson and John Dickason, of Lima, and Henry Messenger, of Cassopolis, Michigan.

The next annual reunion will be held at the same place, September 1, 1911.

A Neglected Occupation.

While the girls are casting about to learn all that is learnable, will they please remark that one of the things worth learning is the girl's own job! It seems at times in danger of being neglected, so urgent is the assault of the petticoat brigade on all the other portals of the citadel of knowledge.—Life.

Few Hard Coal Stoves.

In Great Britain anthracite stoves are rarely seen, and up to the present British-made stoves have failed to gain favor. The British seem to stick to the old custom of open fires, and even in the anthracite district the coal is invariably used in open grates.

Acquitted.

"Sir!" said the young woman, with what seemed to be indignation.

The young man looked embarrassed.

"Yes, I did kiss you," he admitted, "but I was impulsively insane."

"That means that a man would be a lunatic to kiss me?"

"Well, any man of discretion would be just crazy to kiss you."

This seemed to end the strain, and, no jury being present to muddle affairs, a satisfactory verdict was reached.

Suspicious Routine.

Good Man—Ah, my poor fellow, I feel sorry for you! Why don't you work? When I was young, for ten years I was never in bed after 5—an hour's work before breakfast, then five hours' work, then dinner, then four hours' more work, then supper, then bed, then up again at 5 the next morning—

THE PLATFORM OF REPUBLICANS

cordance with the Republican doctrine of protecting home industries and American labor. It did not raise the rate of duty on a single common food product. The increases made were on luxuries and articles not of ordinary use. It affords no more than adequate protection to the industries of the nation, and is fair alike to consumers, laborers and producers. No tariff bill was ever more unjustly assailed. It has justified the expectations of its friends by turning a national deficit into a surplus, while at the same time reducing the average rate of all duties. Its maximum and minimum rates have operated to give us for the first time equality of opportunity with other nations in our foreign trade.

Other Provisions of the Tariff Law.

The Republican party through congress and the president has given free trade with the Philippines, with such limitations as to sugar and tobacco as will afford protection to domestic industries, and has established a customs court.

Recognizing inequalities due to changing conditions or that otherwise may be found to exist, congress has provided a tariff board, with an ample appropriation, for the investigation of the differences in the cost of production at home and abroad, so that if any rates are found to be higher than necessary to afford labor a high wage and capital a fair return, those rates will be reduced.

The New Railroad Law.

In the session of congress just closed a bill was passed and approved by the president providing a commerce court, and enlarging the federal control over common carriers, which will afford relief to shippers and is fair to the railroads. Telegraph and telephone lines were included in its operation. Authority was granted for inquiring to what extent railroad securities have been improperly inflated.

The law requiring the use of safety appliances on railroads was strengthened, and more stringent provision made for the investigation and report of railway accidents.

Other Important Legislation.

Appropriations were reduced nearly $30,000,000 and steps were taken to ascertain what further economies in administration are possible. Important legislation was enacted for the conservation of our national resources. Irrigation and reclamation were substantially encouraged and advanced. A postal savings bank bill was enacted. A national bureau of mines was established. A bill was passed compelling publicity of contributions to federal campaign funds. Statehood was granted to Arizona and New Mexico. All of which legislation we cordially indorse.

Senators and Representatives Indorsed.

Our senators and representatives in congress have maintained the high standard of ability and devotion to duty which have always characterized Ohio's representation in the federal legislature.

We Favor

Legislation which will revive our merchant marine; the equal enforcement of all laws; an adequate national defense with a navy ample to protect all our interests at home and abroad, while favoring arbitration in the settlement of international disputes; the systematic, comprehensive and business-like improvement of our rivers, harbors and waterways, and such amendment of the anti-trust law as final judicial interpretation proves to be necessary for the proper regulation of monopolies.

Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation.

We commend the action of congress in the creation of a commission to investigate the question of employers' liability laws and workmen's compensation acts, and to make recommendations to the president and to the congress.

We believe that industrial accidents to workmen should be treated as inevitable incidents to industrial operations and the compensation therefor as a part of the cost of production. The experience of other countries demonstrates that this principle can be applied to our industrial conditions without increasing the burdens of industry.

Conservation.

We endorse the principle of conservation of our natural resources and cordially endorse the action of the present congress in enacting, and of President Taft in approving, legislation along this line. We refer particularly, first, to the act of congress conferring upon the president express power to withdraw public lands from entry and settlement whenever the public welfare demands; and, second, to the act separating the surface from the coal and authorizing agricultural homestead entries on lands heretofore withdrawn from entry or settlement under coal land classification. Under this act millions of acres of the public domain can be entered by homesteaders and limited patent to the surface granted, reserving the title to the coal in the federal government for future disposition in accordance with law.

Disfranchisement.

We demand the enforcement of existing laws and the enactment of new laws for the protection, wise use and conservation of the natural resources under the control of the federal government. These resources, such as the coal deposits of Alaska, water power and reservoir sites, should be developed under a system by which any abuses of monopoly can be avoided, extortion from the consumer prevented, and just compensation to the public obtained.

We demand equal justice for all men without regard to race or color.

We declare once more and without reservation for the enforcement in letter and spirit of the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments to the constitution, which were designed for the protection and advancement of the negro, and we condemn all devices which have for their real aim his disfranchisement, and that for reason of color alone, as unfair, un-American and repugnant to the supreme law of the land.

Pension Legislation.

The survivors of the civil war, whose ranks are rapidly thinning, deserve the nation's gratitude and support in their declining years. We favor liberal and generous pension legislation and liberal administration of all pension laws. The Republican party has enacted all general pension legislation on the statute books, and will not fail in continued recognition of the services rendered by these brave men who saved the Union; and we denounce the insincere declaration of the Ohio Democracy in its recent platform in favor of a certain dollar a day pension bill, alleged to have been introduced in the Sixtieth congress by an Ohio Democratic member, whereas no such dollar a day bill was introduced by him.

State Legislature and Officials Indorsed.

We commend the present Ohio General assembly for its wise and effective legislation, and charge that it was hindered and not helped by the Democratic state administration. The Republican state officials have proved themselves capable and most efficient.

Dishonesty and Corruption Condemned.

Graft is not partisan; neither are grafters confined to any one political party. The Republican party condemns all forms of dishonesty and corruption and believes in punishing the offenders. We favor making the penalty more severe.

Law Enforcement.

We denounce lynching and mob law, and demand that severe punishment be inflicted upon all such offenders. Law and order must be maintained.

Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Laws.

An employers' liability law was passed by the present legislature and a commission was appointed to inquire into a workmen's compensation law. We favor such a law as will be just and fair to all concerned.

Encouragement of Agriculture.

The agricultural institutions and the farming interests of the state should be liberally encouraged in order to increase the productiveness of the soil. We favor agricultural extension work for the teaching of scientific farming.

State Legislation Favored.

We favor:

Assessing all property, real and personal, at its true value in money and limiting the tax rate for all purposes to 10 mills.

Supervision and regulation of all public utilities by a commission, guarding to municipalities the right of home rule, and to the people the right to vote direct on the granting of public franchises.

Legislation for establishing good roads for the benefit of all the people of the state.

Enactment of further laws applying to men, women and children, for the protection of labor, the basis of all industry. The Republican party has a record in this respect of which it is justly proud.

The administration of our state institutions on strictly business principles.

Such codification and revision of the tax laws of the state as will equalize the burdens of taxation, and make property of all kinds bear its just share.

A state law requiring the publicity of campaign contributions.

The ratification of the income tax amendment to the federal constitution.

Individual punishment for corporate offenses.

The calling of a constitutional convention to draft a new state constitution.

With a record unapproached for achievements in behalf of the people and party pledges redeemed, we ask of the voters of Ohio their continued confidence and support, to the end that President Taft and the Republican party may carry to completion the work in which they are engaged for the growth, stability and prosperity of our state and nation.

There are a lot of us who will heartily approve the sentiment of the president to the effect that vacations should be increased from two weeks to sixty days.

While talking about giving the franking privilege to Colonel Roosevelt, why not make it apply to both the colonels? The latter has tried often and hard enough to entitle him to some sort of a reward.

There are two reasons why there will never be a Roosevelt-Bryan alliance, and we name them in this sentence.

Some of the paragraphers are poking fun at the 542,617 inhabitants of Rhode Island, yet that's about ten times the population of Nevada.

Then, too, Colonel Bryan has always held that the party should find the man, and not the man, the party.

The Florida Times-Union points out that Secretary Ballinger's record isn't so much; that a man down that way killed eighteen snakes in one day.

It must be mighty annoying to some not to have a home to mortgage for an automobile.

Those aviators may think their machines are some pumpkins for speed, but we would like to see one of them endeavor to keep in sight of a rumor from Sagamore Hill.

Woodrow Wilson says he is in the hands of his friends. In view of Woodrow's experience, it's a wonder to some that he doesn't "rise up" and mutiny.

Walter Wellman says he is going to fly across the Atlantic in a dirigible. Pshaw! Walter! Why not come over by wireless General Wood says new blood is needed in the army. The general, manifestly, has been keeping tab on some of those army trials.

Yet, how can Nicaragua be expected to be peaceful without enough of a navy to fill a small-sized pond?

We are frank to confess that we do not take as much stock in this germ theory as some. Had there been anything in it, this world would have been depopulated a thousand years or more ago.

About all the mayors having gotten inside the rays of the limelight, we are hearing less about the fight pictures, these days.

It takes a hard worker to enjoy a vacation, and it takes a vacation, at times, to make a hard worker thoroughly enjoy his work.

After giving the matter earnest study, we can not conceive of any outcome of the convention that could have been more eminently satisfactory to us.

No doubt the ticket and platform will suit Ohio Republicans, and that, after all, was the object in view.

There is nothing so productive of party harmony as a clean, stand-up fight in convention followed by a lovefeast.

The man who said it was going to be a delegates' convention might now say "I told you so" with a certain degree of truth.

It must be said for Mr Cox that he certainly has a great eye for the psychological moment.

Both old parties having placed their tickets in the field, the campaign cigar will again begin its insidious campaign against the physical welfare of the voter

The Cleveland Plain Dealer holds that an overcoat should be carried by one going up a mile in a dirigible. However, we stick to our old contention that the safe way is to take along a parachute.

Cousinly Kisses

By MURIEL E GRAY

Copyright, 1910 by American Press Association

"I'm looking," said an elderly lady in glasses and a couple of short curls on either side of her face, "for a student of the name of Smith."

She was in one of the college dormitories and had with her two very pretty girls, her daughters She was speaking to a young man who emerged from a door into the corridor and was about to descend the staircase

"My name is Smith. There are several Smiths in college. Which one are you looking for?"

"Edward B. Smith"

"I'm Edward B. Smith. You can't be"—

"Your Aunt Elizabeth"

"You don't mean it! And these girls are"—

"Your cousins, Bess and Ethel"

"Well, well! I'm delighted"

The young man put his arms around the old lady's shoulders in a stage embrace and kissed her back between them Then he kissed Ethel on the cheek Lastly he kissed Bess—on the lips.

"When did you come down, Aunt Elizabeth?" asked the student.

"We reached here this morning We've been wishing for a long while to see the college, and your mother wrote us that you had come here. Let me see—how many years since we have seen you? It must be ten or twelve. You were then a little boy six or seven years old"

"Bess and I were playmates, I believe."

At the remembrance he gave Bess another kiss

"Oh, no; you weren't," said the old lady. "You spent but one summer with us, and that summer Bess was obliged to go south with her Uncle Charles' family for her health You've never seen her before."

"Never seen her before! Well, if this is the first time I hope it won't be the last."

And he kissed her again.

At that moment the real Edward B Smith came along Seeing his chum Gardner Dale chatting with an old lady and two pretty girls, he looked wistfully at the latter. Dale excused himself for a moment and went to Smith and whispered:

"These are your aunt and cousins' I've passed myself off for you. If you give me away I'll murder you."

Then, leading Smith up to the ladies, he said:

"This is my chum Gardner Dale. He will be very glad to assist me in showing you the college sights and making your stay pleasant."

"Delighted," said the false Dale, pulling off his cap.

"Smith is a very good fellow," Dale announced to the party, then in a stage whisper to the aunt, "He leads his class and is altogether the most prominent man in college"

"See here, Gard—I mean Ned—you stop that You can't bribe me that way What I do I do in pure mercy"

"What is he talking about, Edward?" asked the old lady

"Oh, he's got modesty on the brain Besides, he studies so hard he doesn't know what he's talking about"

The young men walked about with the old lady and the two girls, taking them into the different buildings and showing them the sights generally There was to be a "prom" in the evening, and the students invited the girls to attend it with them They asked the old lady to go, too, but she obliged them by declining

"I've always heard," said Bess to Dale—the real Dale—who had paired off with her at the "prom" "that students are so full of pranks. Do you practice them much at your college?"

"Pranks! Oh, no! We have to study so hard here that we have no time for pranks. What kind of pranks do you mean?"

"Well, I heard of a case once where some ladies went to a college to meet a relative they had never seen One of the students palmed himself off for the one they had come to visit"

"That couldn't have been at this college A man who would do that here would get the dead cut"

The girls enjoyed themselves during the evening and on returning to their hotel bid goodby to the two young men who had escorted them After being duly thanked and when the young men were about to withdraw Dale stepped forward kissed Ethel on the cheek and gave Bess a prolonged smack on the lips Smith stood looking on, much disgruntled

"Where do I come in?" he asked in a tone that much disturbed the equanimity of his chum lest he should give him away

"Oh, you'll come in on the way home. I shall have something nice for you."

"No, you won't," growled Smith "I don't sell my birthright for a mess of pottage. See here, girls; this fellow Dale has been putting up a job on you. He isn't your cousin at all. I'm your cousin"

"Cousin Bess and Cousin Ethel," put in Dale, "he's doing this simply to get a kiss It's the weakest"—

"Well, I'll be hanged!" interrupted Smith. "If you haven't more gall than a clown at a circus"

The girls laughed and, both springing forward, threw their arms around their real cousin, and each gave him a kiss.

They had known of the imposition all the while. But not so their mother, and they didn't tell her.

MRS. GARDNER BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Alleged To Have Threatened Life of Edna Mines.

TROUBLE OCCURS AT PARK STREET CHURCH

Plan Is Formulated To Steal Away from Mrs Gardner's Daughter a Youth Who Is Paying the Latter Attention—Mrs Gardner Takes a Hand—Is Prostrated.

Mrs Fannie Gardner, wife of A W Gardner, colored of north Greenwood street, was arrested at her home, Wednesday when confined to her bed a result of an attack of nervous prostration, following a quarrel in which he is alleged to have threatened to cut the heart of Miss Edna Mines, colored, at the Park street A M E church, last Sunday evening

Justice Charles P Gompf late appeared at the Gardner home Mrs Gardner waived a preliminary examination while lying in bed, and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $300 She also furnished a peace bond of $200.

The trouble started over the appearance of Edward Kelley, colored, Sunday He came to Marion to see Mrs Gardner's daughter, Miss Forest Gardner. The friends of Edna Mines, a handsome girl, decided that they would "steal" Mr Kelley away from the Gardner girl, and turn him over to the Mines girl Their plans proved partially successful, for when Kelley started to leave the church with Miss Mines, the mother of the jilted girl started in to take the part of her daughter

According to the affidavit filed by Miss Mines against Mrs Gardner, the latter threatened to kill her and do her "other bodily injury"

There was great excitement in the neighborhood of the church, but no blood was shed, although some blows were exchanged.

When Mrs Gardner learned that an affidavit had been filed against her, she took to her bed, and a physician was called.

Wanted It to Take.

Mrs. B believed in infant baptism, but for some reason that rite was not performed for Tommy till he was some four or five years old. While the ceremony was in progress the mother was very much gratified with Tommy's behavior. He seemed duly impressed with the solemnity of the occasion and remained with bowed head for some time after the sprinkling had been done.

"The angel!" exclaimed the mother.

"The little dear!" said a good sister as she went up to give him a "God bless you" and a pat on the head But just as her hand was descending with that benediction a very wrathful and unangelic countenance was turned upon her, a pugilistic little fist delivered a paralyzing blow on her biceps, and the indignant Tommy exclaimed, "You git away from here!"

Of course he was led out in disgrace and questioned by his horrified mother.

"Why, don't you know she would 'a' rubbed all the baptizing water off before it would 'a' had time to soak in?" explained Tommy, who from his point of view was fully justified.—Los Angeles Times.

Buffoonery In "Hamlet."

The buffoonery once tolerated in provincial theaters is illustrated in an anecdote set forth in the memoirs of Barry Sullivan. Wright, who was the first gravedigger, prepared himself to take the house by storm by having encased his person within a dozen or more waistcoats of all sorts of shapes and patterns. When about to commence the operation of digging the grave for the fair Ophelia Wright began to unwind by taking off waistcoat after waistcoat, which caused uproarious laughter among the audience But as fast as he relieved himself of one waistcoat Paul Bedford, the second gravedigger, eased himself in the castoff vests, which increased the salvos of laughter, for as Wright was getting thinner Paul grew fatter and fatter Wright, seeing himself outdone, kept on the remainder of the waistcoats and went on with his part quite crestfallen.

Got Another Copy.

A well dressed man was standing outside a bookseller's shop in Charing Cross road closely examining one of Balzac's works illustrated by Gustave Dore "How much is this Balzac?" he asked an assistant outside.

"Twenty-five shillings," was the reply

"Oh, that's far too much I must see the manager about a reduction," continued the prospective customer, and, suiting the action to the word, he took up the book and went into the shop

Approaching the bookseller, he took the book from under his arm and asked what he would give for it Seven shillings highest offer," he was told

The offer was accepted, the man took his money and left

"Well," queried the assistant later after the man had gone, "were you able to hit it off with the gentleman, sir?"

"Oh, yes I managed to get another copy of that edition of Balzac for 7 shillings"

Then the bookseller went out to lodge a complaint with the police.—London Telegraph

A Victim of Leprosy.

"On my travels in Venezuela," said a New York man, "I stayed in a hotel with a young man in whose family there was the taint of leprosy, though he apparently did not have it One night sitting at dinner he became angry at a waiter and brought his hand down on the table with full force. He instantly realized that he did not feel the blow and sat looking at his hand, his face whitening with horror 'Give me your knife, Bob,' he said to his chum He stabbed the pocketknife in a frenzy and stabbed the side of his hand with vicious cuts from finger tip to wrist You may not know that leprosy appears in the side of the hand numbness being a sign The man did not feel the cuts He arose from the table, knocking over his chair, rushed out into the courtyard of the hotel and we heard the quick bang of a revolver shot, telling us how he had conquered the leper's curse by ending his life"—New York Times.

He Could Wield an Ax.

The skill of the old Maine shipbuilders in the use of the adz and broadax was wonderful One old time yarn is of a carpenter who applied very drunk at a shipyard for employment. In order to have a little fun with him the foreman set him to give a proof of his skill by hewing out a wooden bolt with no chopping block but a stone The carpenter accomplished his difficult task without marring the keen edge of the broadax and showed the foreman a neatly made bolt Then he brought the ax down with a terrific blow that shattered its edge upon the stone. "I can hew fust rate on your chopping block," he hiccoughed, "but I'll be blamed if I can make the ax stick in it when I git through" The story runs that the foreman lost no time in employing such a workman.

Judges' Wigs.

The wig is only worn by English barristers to give them a stern, judicial appearance, and no one can say that it fails in this respect The custom was originated by a French judge in the seventeenth century when, happening to don a marquis' wig one day, he found it gave him such a stern and dignified appearance that he decided to get one for himself and wear it at all times in court This he did, and the result was so satisfactory from a legal point of view that not only judges but barristers also, took up the custom throughout Europe.—London Graphic

Candles Still Used in Europe.

In many parts of Europe the candle business is carried on by large establishments with abundant capital. In Great Britain there was quite recently at least what we should call a candle trust that yielded good returns. Anybody who has sojourned in a very rural English inn will not need to be told whence comes some of the demands for candles.

The blue and green combinations of metallic effect are popular.

Pink linen is extremely fashionable.

LIGHTNING BOLT HITS YOUTH NEAR PROSPECT

Neck and Breast of Orville Wohlgamuth Burned

DURING THE STORM OF WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Young Wohlgamuth Is Standing Under a Wire Stretching from His Home to an Outbuilding—Home of James Gast, of Prospect, Is Struck During Same Storm.

Prospect, July 21.—[Special.]—Considerable damage was done by the storm here, late Wednesday afternoon, and Orville Wohlgamuth, aged twenty-two years, son of Martin Wohlgamuth, residing near here, was struck by lightning and severely shocked, but not dangerously hurt. His neck and breast were badly burned. He was rendered unconscious for half an hour, and is still confined to his bed, suffering from nervous shock.

At the time of being struck, young Wohlgamuth was standing under a wire that ran from his home to an outbuilding.

The home of James Gast, at this place, was hit by a thunderbolt while the members of the family were seated on the porch. The chimney was shattered, and some of the household furniture was damaged, but no one was injured.

HARMON IN CHARGE OF STRIKE SITUATION.

Brings Vacation to Sudden Close.

TROOPS PATROL CITY

Columbus Mob Spirit Is Easily Quelled.

STREETCAR SERVICE RESUMED

Expected That Soldiers Will Be Relieved By Monday of Next Week---Rioters Face Serious Charges Today---What It Costs the State.

Columbus O July 29 — Governor Harmons vacation plans seem to have gone sadly amiss this summer For the second time since he left Columbus for his summer home at Charlevoix Mich he has been summoned home by the boisterous conduct of certain of his constituents The first occasion was the Newark riot and lynching when it was necessary for him to chastis the mayor and the sheriff for failure to do their duty After having swung the big stick several times the governor returned to the cool breezes of northern Michigan where his dreams of a vacation passed far from the maddening crowd were soon to be shattered by telegrams from Adjutant General Weybrecht informing him that the strike of the motormen and conductors on the lines of the Columbus Railway and Light company had precipitated a rough house in the capital city that soon spread beyond the control of the local authorities and that Mayor Marshall had called for state troops to prevent the further interference with the companys efforts to resume its regular schedules with cars manned by strikebreakers The governor hopped on the first train southward bound arriving here this morning and at once took charge of the situation

No Fresh Outbreaks

There have been no fresh outbreaks on the part of the strike sympathizers Mayor Marshalls order to have all cars remain in the barns until the troops have the situation well in hand having robbed the mob element of its targets for brickbats stones and rotten eggs Car were started on all lines this afternoon the streets in the troubled districts being patrolled by troops

In police court this morning Police Prosecutor Kerr hanged the charges against a large number of prisoners from disorderly conduct to rioting which is a penal offense This action is expected to discourage further disorders

Major Marshall and L K Stewart manager of the Rail Light company are engaged in a words war as to the responsibility for the rioting which made the call for troops necessary Marshall says the action of the toughs imported by the company for duty as strikebreakers in talking back to the crowds and their disposition to pull guns at the slightest provocation incited the people to the deeds of violence which resulted in the wounding of at least two dozen people On the other hand Stewart asserts that if the mayor had placed officers on the cars of the company all the trouble could have been handled without the aid of troops

Long before his arrival however the city had taken on the appearance of an army camp the regiments of infantry the Second Third and Sixth comprising companies one troop of cavalry an signal corps and an ambulance corp being camped in various parts of the city The total number of officers and soldiers now in the city is approximately 2 000

Two battalions of the Third regiment were the first to arrive under the command of Major Horace Keifer of Springfield They marched to the site near the Mile postoffice and made camp Shortly after the arrival of Major Keifer and his men the four remaining companies of the Third regiment arrived in command of Major Robert L Hubbell of Dayton They also went to the Mile camp

Camp on West Side

Ten companies of the Second regiment arrived from Lima and command of Lieutenant Colonel E Cass Deming Colonel Edward S Bryant of Bloomdale was already in Columbus having been attending the Republican state convention He took command of his troops on their arrival and marched them from the C H & D railroad to a point near the West Broad street car barns

The First Field Hospital corps of Cincinnati commanded by Captain Howard White are quartered in the statehouse yard There are between 30 and 40 men in the corps Brigadier General William V McMakon of Toledo is making his headquarters at the governors office and issuing his orders from there

The Sixth regiment arrived from Toledo and is encamped on a site near the South Side car barns

The state arsenal is being guarded by 40 men of Battery C of Columbus under command of Captain Bush They are armed with rifles guns and provided with riot ammunition The cartridges instead of bullets contain buckshot

The personnel of General McMakons staff which will have general command of the troops after their arrival is as follows Major Duffy Toledo Major John Proctor Cincinnati Major Edward Rydman Toledo Maj David A Lynch Bostoria Major William I David Lindlay Major William R Roll Lebanon Captain Howland C Webster Toledo

Maintenance of the military organization here costs $1 00 a day Transportation to and from Columbus will cost $8 000

Meeting May Be Prohibited

The various union labor organizations of the city planned a monster demonstration next Sunday President W D Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Streetcar Employes was to have delivered an address He arrived in the city for that purpose and to direct the strike It is not certain that the demonstration will be held If it is troops will be in readiness if any disorder should arise As soon as the cars begin to run will be the crucial test However as long as the militia is in the city there is no fear of disturbances Some are pessimistic and believe that trouble will be confronted before the state militia leave the city This class is staying close to their homes It is hardly probable that the troops will remain in the city longer than Monday of next week

Manager Stewart of the Rail Light company has received a number of threatening letters which have been turned over to the postal authorities

It is probable that an effort will be made late today to bring about a settlement between the company and the men Judging from the manner in which F K Stewart general manager for the company refused to enter into such a conference with the state board of arbitration as well as refusing to abide by the decision of the board Leads many to believe that there is no possible chance for an amicable adjustment of the differences

Troop A of Cleveland is quartered in Trinity House in East Broad street the building upon which the state last winter had an option the intention at that time being to convert it into a capitol annex The horses are housed in the troopers are occupying a tract of ground staked off in Broad street one of the most aristocratic and exclusive thoroughfares in the city

TROOP A IS REAL THING

Cleveland's Crack Military Organization Its Own Meal Ticket

Cleveland O July 29 It is no ordinary lunch of militiamen this Troop A that went to Columbus to help stay the wrists of strikers No indeed Every one's his own meal ticket And there's not a private in the bunch who doesn't hire servants when he's home These soldier boys might be termed the millionaire brigade They're most all professional men—doctors lawyers architects or just professional militiamen and high livers The gold on the officers uniforms is real But there's not a private in the outfit who couldn't have yards of gold braid on his uniform if the United States army regulations didn't prohibit it

BRINGS BAKERS TO TIME

Weybrecht Threatens Bakers Who Refuse Bread to Soldiers

Columbus O July 29 Several Columbus bakers refused to sell the state bread for the troops that are here When Major Lynch went around to buy bread he was told at several places that union bakers employed would not stand for the firm furnishing bread to the troops Major Lynch reported to Adjutant General Weybrecht and the latter at once sent out the word that he would order arrests if bread was not forthcoming

It is a penitentiary offense in Ohio for persons to refuse to sell to the state in such an emergency as this said General Weybrecht I realize that there is a strong sentiment among union men against furnishing provisions but the militia is taking no side in the strike The troops are here only to preserve order and they must have something to eat regardless of the merit of the strike

Troops Stoned at Hamilton

Hamilton O July 29—Strike sympathizers threw bolts and stones at members of Company E of the Third regiment O N G as they were waiting for a train to convey them to Columbus Several members of the company were struck by stones and bruised but none was hurt seriously The soldiers took refuge in the passenger station

DISAPPOINTED, BUT NOT DISCOURAGED

Bryan Discusses Defeat of Option Plank.

Lincoln Neb July 29—William J Bryan is disappointed but not dismayed over the refusal of the Democratic party to accept his dictum on county option Before taking to the Chautauqua platform for the summer he gave out this statement

While the failure of the Democratic convention to indorse county option was disappointing still the fight for county option in the Democratic party has no been in vain In the first place it has helped to secure a declaration in favor of the initiative and referendum in both parties and now that all parties have declared for it there is no doubt of the necessary amendment being submitted at the next session of the legislature The only thing that remains to be done on this subject is to pledge every candidate on all tickets to support the initiative and referendum and this ought to be attended to The candidate who refuses to pledge himself to support the initiative and referendum not only declares himself against the rule of the people but repudiates the platform of his party

Woman Faints In Court

Cincinnati O July 29 Percy Procter member of the wealthy Cincinnati family appeared suddenly in court here and faced his wife the former Baroness Nadine Von Klifuss for the first time in many months Upon his failure to recognize her his wife promptly swooned

TRAP CRIPPEN BY WIRELESS

Officials Certain Wife Slayer Is on Montrose.

WILL ARREST HIM AT DOCK

American Sought by Scotland Yard Detectives In All Parts of the World Due to Reach Canadian Port Tomorrow Noon and Will Be Detained as Undesirable Citizen Until Papers Arrive — Miss Le Neve Travels as His Son

Montreal July 29 All doubt has been dispelled as to the real identity of the two passengers traveling second class on the Canadian Pacific steamer Montrose from Antwerp to Quebec and registered under the names of Rev Robinson and son Delaney the wireless operator at Point Amour has been in communication with the Montrose both directly and through the Allan line steamer Grampian and his messages officially to Colonel Percy Sherwood of the Dominion police at Ottawa to the headoffice of the Canadian Pacific and unofficially to interested parties have show that there is no doubt in the mind of Captain Kendall and officers on the Montrose that the Robinsons are the much sought after Dr Hawley H Crippen and his stenographer Miss Le Neve

The first flash was confirmed an hour later at the Canadian Pacific headquarters About the same time Colonel Sherwood received a message in Ottawa of the same purport He immediately got into touch with the office of the Quebec attorney general and a plan of campaign was drawn up for the arrest of the suspected murderer

Must Get New Warrant

It appears now that Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard who is on the Laurentic with a warrant for Crippens arrest will not be able to make the actual arrest without having his warrant indorsed by a judge of the court of the kings bench This can not be done at Father Point or Rimouski the nearest judicial districts being the city of Quebec some 200 miles away on Frazerville 100 to the eastward It was therefore arranged with a view to avoiding any legal extradition tangle later to have Chief McCarthy of the Quebec provincial force and Chief Denis of Levis with Chief Constable Gauvren of the Dominion police take the doctor and his companion under their wings on suspicion of being undesirable citizens This little act in the drama will take place at Grosse Isle where immigrants are examined on inbound vessels

When Inspector Dew arrives on the Laurentic at Father Point he will be advised to go ashore and rush up to Quebec by train where he can have his warrant backed and proceed down the river again to Grosse Isle In the immigration sheds there a place somewhat similar to old Castle Garden in New York on a much smaller scale Crippen and the Le Neve woman will have the warrant read to them and they will be placed formally under arrest

COMBINE GETS COTTON MILLS

Will Also Compete With Southern Growers.

HAS CAPITAL OF $20,000,000

Will Establish Offices and Agencies In All Quarters of the Globe and Turn Out 3 000 Varieties of Goods Factories Will Furnish Employment to 10 000 People—Owns or Exercises Stock Control Over Twenty two Different Concerns

New York July 29—Myron C Taylor president announces the organization of the International Cotton Mills corporation a combination of cotton interests with control over many textile mills throughout the country It was incorporated under the laws of New York with an authorized capital of $20 000 000 and the company will acquire either by direct ownership or by stock control a large number of mills and companies which handle and distribute in Canada as well as this country The products of the combined mills will represent about 3 000 varieties of cotton fabrics

The negotiations which led to the formation of this corporation have been going on for several months and have had to do largely with arrangements for acquiring the control of the companies which it was planned to absorb

There are to be offices of the company in New York Boston Baltimore Chicago St Louis San Francisco, London and Manchester England and agencies in other foreign countries In the employ of the International will be more than 10 000 persons and 22 mills are included in the properties Outside of the mill properties the concern will own something like 10 000 acres of land part of which is now under cultivation for cotton It is proposed to broaden the operations in this direction The mills are to be located in the east and south with provision for shipment by water The selling companies which are to be controlled are going to make a point of handling goods made by other concerns and not by the ones acquired

ROOSEVELT TO HEAR STORY FIRST HAND

Garfield Will Make Pilgrimage to Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay N Y July 29 — Mr Roosevelt has not changed his mind in regard to public utterances concerning the Ohio situation He read the platform as it appeared in the newspapers and read it carefully He merely repeated that he has nothing to say about it When it was pointed out to the colonel that he had advocated a progressive platform and the convention adopted a standpat platform he smiled Mr Roosevelt is not angry at the result of the contest Certainly his manner does not indicate that

It is more than likely that James R Garfield the defeated candidate will come to Sagamore Hill pretty soon The colonel is anxious to hear the story from him but after that he will pass no comment Garfield will probably drop in within the next week or two

The talk of the ex president stumping Ohio is simply talk so far as he himself is concerned Just what he will say to Wade H Ellis chairman of the Republican state committee of Ohio when Mr Ellis comes is unknown It may be said on good authority however that Colonel Roosevelt will not make any campaign in Ohio unless unforeseen events come to pass He is going to be too busy in other places this fall

FOR SECOND TIME HE ESCAPES FROM BASTILE

Locked Up for Intoxication Between 4 and 5 O'Clock, His Cell Is Found Empty at 7 O'Clock—A Broken Staple Tells the Story—Accomplice Suspected.

Michael "Cinch" Lawrence has no terrors for the city prison and locking him in the bastile has gotten to be a huge joke. Some time ago, Lawrence was arrested on some sort of charge, and a short time later accomplices aided him in springing the lock on the door of his cell, and he walked out. Since that time Lawrence has kept shy from the city, or at least from the officers.

Wednesday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, Lawrence was arrested on a charge of intoxication He was placed in cell No. 2, to sleep off his jag, but whether he disposed of it at the prison is not known. About 7 o'clock the door of the cell, which Lawrence had occupied, was open, and Lawrence was gone. A broken staple to the door and an iron bar lying nearby told the story, and a search over the city was made for him, but he was not to be found.

The indications are that Lawrence broke one of the steel bars off his bunk, and, placing it through the lock, pried with such force as to break a piece out of the staple sufficiently large enough to permit of the lock coming off. Considerable strength would be required to accomplish this task, as the play on the staple is small, while it is made of cast steel about three-eighths of an inch or more in thickness and half an inch broad from the hole to the outer edge.

Chief Klinefelter is of the opinion that Lawrence had accomplices, and that the staple was broken with a steel bar of heavier material than was found, while he is also of the opinion that Lawrence would be unable to break the staple from the interior.

Two charges of breaking from prison are now against Lawrence, and should he be apprehended he will be arrested to answer to them.

Chief Klinefelter received a communication, Thursday, from Sheridan, Indiana, requesting him to be on the lookout for two runaway boys, twelve years of age, whose names are Jessop and Elliott. The boys are said to be beating their way in this direction on freight trains The police have been watching the incoming trains, but the youths have not been apprehended.

The cause of the careless shooting on north Main street Monday night was learned, Wednesday Officer Powell was the cause of all the excitement. The police received a call that some person was trying to steal some chickens at the home of Carl Ramroth, on north State street Officers Hostetter and Powell answered the call, and saw a young fellow walking down the street with a pair of trousers over his arm

The officers believed the trousers to be chickens, and when they started after the fellow, he ran, believing he was to be held up.

Powell pulled his gun, and fired at the fleeing man, the bullet just missing him and going through the window of McClung's store about four feet from the ground. Powell stated that he shot in the air, but the hole in the plate glass does not indicate that he did.

Chief Klinefelter cautioned Powell to be more careful in the use of his gun, or the city might have a heavy damage suit on its hands.

Thomas Ricapito, an Italian ice-cream manufacturer, whose place of business is on north State street, was taken before the chief of police, Wednesday, to answer to a complaint of assaulting his wife, who is an American. The trouble of the couple was hatched out in police headquarters, the wife displaying a bruised cheek and a cut and swollen lip, where her husband struck her.

The trouble seems to be the result of the woman not getting along with a young brother of Ricapito, and Ricapito is inclined to think as much of the brother as of his wife He was informed that the custom of striking women might be overlooked in the country from whence he came, but that it would not be tolerated in this country, particularly in Marion. He was ordered to have more respect for his wife, and, if the occurrence is repeated, he will be dea't with severely.

MARRIED AT LEE STREET PARSONAGE

Are Miss Rosetta Pemberton and Walter F. Stults.

Miss Rosetta Pemberton and Walter F. Stults were united in marriage by Rev S C. Bates at the Lee Street Presbyterian parsonage at 1 o'clock, Wednesday.

The bride has been employed by the Marion County Telephone company, and has been making her home with her aunt, Mrs. J. K. Bowman on Garden City pike

The groom is employed on the C. H Norris farm north of Marion The young couple will reside in this city

Little Damage Done.

The fire departments were called out about 2 30 o'clock, Thursday, afternoon to extinguish a blaze at the home of Mrs. M. A. Rudasill, on Silver street. The fire started in some bed clothing in an upstairs bedroom, and its origin is unknown. Neighbors assisted in throwing the burning bedding out of the window, and the fire was nearly extinguished when the firemen arrived. But little damage was done by the blaze.

At the Home of Lee Howison, of Forest Street.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR OTHER MEETINGS

Corn Bake Coming at the T. E. Andrews Home—Canby Pythian Lodge Enjoys a Dance—Meeting Is Held by Rhamar Court of the Tribe of Ben Hur.

A regular meeting was held by the Betsy Ross Auxiliary of the Spanish War veterans at the home of Lee Howison, of Forest street, Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance. It was arranged to hold a meeting with the veterans August 12, at which time there will be an initiation. August 24, Mr. and Mrs. T E Andrews will entertain both the veterans and the auxiliary at a corn bake at their home on Fairground street. A penny social will be held in the near future.

The recent convention at Elyria was also discussed at the meeting.

An enjoyable dance was given by Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias, in Canby hall, Wednesday night, about fifty couples being in attendance. Dowler's orchestra furnished the music. The committee on arrangements was composed of Carl Rice, James Ramey and Albert Reidenbaugh.

Rhamar Court, No. 8, Tribe of Ben Hur, held a regular meeting, Wednesday night, and transacted routine business. The next meeting will be held the second Wednesday night in August.

The Home guards held a regular meeting, Wednesday night, and transacted routine business

Sosnowski Lodge, No. 164, I. O. O. F., held a largely-attended meeting, Tuesday evening, and, aside from the routine business, one candidate was initiated. Following the meeting, a social time was enjoyed and a luncheon was served.

The next meeting of the lodge will be held in two weeks.

The third degree was conferred on five candidates at a largely-attended meeting of Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias, Tuesday evening. Aside from the routine business, arrangements were completed for the dance to be given tonight. Owing to the warm weather, no degree work will be done until September.

IT PROVES A MOST DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Pleasing Company at the John M. Cleary Home Given in Honor of a Visitor—C. L. P. Club Meets—C. B. Club Holds a Picnic—G. T. C. Club Meets.

Complimenting her guests, Misses Eleanor and Isabelle Hinde, of Sandusky, Miss Emma O'Brien entertained a company of her lady and gentlemen friends at a porch party at the O'Brien home on east Church street, Wednesday evening The delightful affair was to have been a garden party, but on account of the storm of the early evening was held on the veranda and in the parlors of the home

The young people spent a very pleasant time in the enjoyment of various pleasures. In a guessing contest, the ladies' prize was won by Miss Leona Gurley, and the honors for the gentlemen went to Mr. Joseph Grundy.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cleary entertained about twenty-five of the lady and gentlemen friends of their son, Mr. Stewart Cleary, at their home on Oak street, Wednesday evening, for his house guest, Mr. Garnet Brand, of Urbana.

The young people spent the hours happily with games and other pleasures A delicious buffet luncheon, served by the hostess, was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Louis Miller entertained the C. L. P. club at her home on Pennsylvania avenue, Wednesday afternoon All the members, excepting one, were present.

After a season of needlework, two contests were held. In the first contest, Mrs. J. W. Miller won the prize and in the second the trophy was secured by Mrs Fred Schurtle. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. J. W. Miller, of Girard avenue, in two weeks.

The members of the C. B. club and their guests, Dorothy Fetter and Doris Coleman, picnicked at the Greenwood school grounds, Wednesday afternoon. The nine little girls took their lunch, and had a fine picnic spread. During the afternoon, they played all kinds of games, and had a merry time

The next meeting of the club will be held with Amelia May, of Mt. Vernon avenue, next Wednesday afternoon.

The members of the G. T. C club entertained their gentlemen friends at a picnic dinner at Lincoln park, Tuesday evening. A fine time was enjoyed.

A number of the little friends of Miss Priscilla Smith gave her a very pleasant surprise at her home on Mt. Vernon avenue, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of her thirteenth birthday anniversary.

The children played games of all kinds and enjoyed a luncheon in the early evening.

Miss Edith Ward, of Fies avenue, entertained a number of her young friends, Monday evening, in honor of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. Music and games were features of the evening's entertainment. Choice refreshments were served.

The girls and boys composing the D. W. club were entertained at a lawn party by Miss Philomena Krack, of the Boulevard, Tuesday evening. The young people spent a merry time with outdoor pleasures and various games. Delicious refreshments were served by the young hostess.

Those present were James Schaller, of Newark; Misses Marie Navin, Marie Masterson, Mary Navin, Florence Cusic, Evelyn Burke, Anna Bell, Messrs. James Murphy, James Greaney, Edward Stuber, Edward O'Donnell, Edward Minoughan and Edward Burke.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON ON A VACATION, BUT SOME ONE MUST RECEIVE TWO FOREIGN PRESIDENTS

President Montt, of Chile, and General da Fonseca.

Washington, July 27 – Who is going to give an official welcome to General Hermes da Fonseca, president-elect of Brazil, and President Pedro Montt, of Chili" Some one must, and official Washington is away on a vacation. President Taft and all the members of his cabinet have deserted the capital, and none have expressed a desire to leave the cooling summer resorts for heavy and dignified state dinners But some one must, and it looks now as though President Taft will have to do the honors. President Montt, of Chile, arrives in New York August 2, while General Fonseca will be a week later, according to the present program And to add to the discomfort of official Washington the sultan of Sulu is on his way across the country with a handful of pearls which he wants to sell for real money. It's no fun being a member of Uncle Sam' official cabinet in the summer time and presidents of other countries wanting to be entertained.

Engineer Is Misled by a Signal Light Which Shows White the Red Glass Having Been Broken—Fortunately No One Is Injured—Interlocker Injured

Martel O July 2[illegible] [Special]—A serious wreck occurred here at 11 40 o'clock Tuesday morning when the T & O C special on the return trip from Detroit carrying 360 excursionists for points south of here ran through a signal light in which the red glass was broken and plunged over the draw at the rate of twenty five miles an hour The wreck was one of the worst occurring here for some time

Engineer W M Grim[illegible] saw the white light the red glass being broken thought he was safe and checked his speed but little as he neared the signal Seeing his mistake, he made a desperate effort to check his engine and was badly hurt[illegible] in making his escape The engine turned turtle and the tender and baggage car and a number of coaches piled in on top of the wreck Mr Grim[illegible] was taken to the Wesley hospital in Toledo where it was found that his injuries were not fatal

The fireman Mr Wendling[illegible] was also taken to the hospital suffering from injuries to the head and body

The conductor Mr Hobbs[illegible] was taking different direction The car of merchandise was demolished as was also a small[illegible] bed room[illegible] by The coaches were quite badly damaged and the engine was almost knocked

Very fortunately no one was injured Passengers were badly frightened and many women fainted expecting at any moment to be crushed Dr Chesney of Bucyrus was called and came in an automobile and gave professional attention The interlocking plant which was partly torn up and placed in an unconditional out of commission and some time will be required to install new equipment In the meantime it will be necessary to handle the trains by hand signals

Just how the glass in the signal was broken is a mystery

TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPS VICINITY

Wind, Rain, Hail, Thunder and Lightning

COMBINE TO MAKE A RECORD BREAKER

Streets Are Flooded, Windows and Skylights Broken Trees Uprooted and Much Damage Is Done to Electric Wires—No Rain to the North and West

Torrents of rain accompanied by a wind of terrific velocity destructive lightning and some hail struck Marion and vicinity Wednesday afternoon about 4 30 o'clock and wrought considerable damage throughout the city and county

Many trees were blown down huge limbs of other trees were twisted off and the streets and sidewalks in every section of the city were literally covered with debris

Houses and business blocks were partially flooded as a result of the breaking of windows and the water in some streets was far above shoe tops

Thunderbolt splintered a number of big trees over the city and county and hundreds of telephones were put out of commission by the strong electric currents The big motor of the Marion County Telephone company was burned out and the fire department was called when the storm was raging at its worst The burning out of the motor badly crippled the service of the telephone company temporarily Next morning scores of telephones were reported as being in trouble by operators and the gang of telephone workmen known as 'trouble shooters' found a large amount of work to do The telephone system however, was quickly restored to complete operation and no much inconvenience was experienced by the patrons

The street railway department of the Marion Railway Light & Power company was handicapped for a time by the burning out of the cut fuses but Superintendent J M Boyer kept the cars going to handle the crowds to the Marion County Chautauqua Associations assembly at the fairground

The large stained glass window in front of St Pauls Episcopal church was blown in Skylights in business blocks were broken and the water rushed in The rain fell in great sheets Dr P H Raftensperger the official weather observer, states that 1 81 inch and a quarter of rain fell during the storm which lasted about an hour

Sewers were overtaxed, and many street intersections were flooded to a depth of a foot or more Thursday morning Street Commissioner John H Kinsler and a gang of workmen were kept busy clearing the streets of broken tree limbs

Automobile parties returning from the Republican state convention in Columbus encountered considerable difficulty in making their way to Marion on account of fallen telephone and telegraph poles trees and huge limbs of trees obstructing their path

James I Prendergast and party who were the first to come through from Columbus in the big Prendergast home literally had to chop their way through in some places At one point a telephone pole obstructed the roadway and at another point a big tree stopped their progress until farmers were secured to chop out a clearing Lanterns were then hung on the ends of the obstructions to warn other travelers of the danger

Fourteen miles south of here ten telephone poles were razed but the road from Columbus was completely obstructed only in two places

Reports from Waldo Caledonia Prospect Green Camp and Morral were to the effect that considerable damage was done by the storm At Prospect as stated in a special from that place one man was struck by lightning and severely shocked and a house was damaged by a thunderbolt

There was no storm at all at Mount Rue and South Town

DENVER WOMAN SLAYS HUSBAND

Long Love Letter Causes Double Tragedy.

LOVE FOR MARRIED WOMAN DISCOVERED

Frantic Wife of Ferres Blows Out Own Brains

Mrs Frank Ferres Finds Letter in Husbands Pocket and After Spending Four Hours in Reading It Presses Revolver Against the Sleeping Mans Temple and Kills Him Then Shoots Herself

Denver Col July 2 —Because Frank Ferres of this city permitted a woman other than his wife to write him an affectionate twenty page love letter he is dead today slain by his wife and Mrs Ferres is dead by her own hand

The fatal tragedy occurred after Mrs Ferres had spent four hours reading and rereading the letter she had found in her husbands pocket

Mrs Ferres suspected her husband of infidelity but when he was taking a bath, she seized the opportunity to go through his pockets She found a long letter signed Marie expressing undying love for Ferres

Mrs Ferres waited until after her husband had gone to sleep and then firing a revolver against his temple blew out his brains

Appears Calm

Neighbors found her sitting on the bed gazing into her dead husbands bloody face and still grasping the revolver She appeared to be dazed but when they aroused her she calmly told them what had happened and then fled

In the yard Mrs Ferres blew out her own brains

Marie in her letter notified Ferres that she had been married years and that she wished she was a widow she asked Ferres to stop pretending a separation The letter continues

My dearest I will be careful Oh Frank how you do love me If I was a free woman I would return every but of it but Frank you know I am far from being free And if ever anything happens I will be free

Frank do you ever intend living with your wife again You have all my sympathy in your troubles and may God make you good always

Why She Couldn't Accept

Telephone operators who plug wrong numbers or get the wires crossed sometimes are responsible for very embarrassing situations as was exemplified by a broker

The broker called up his home number and said to the person on the other end of the wire

Hello dear is that you?'

'Yes I've been thinking about you all morning I want you to come down town and meet me for lunch and we'll go to a show this afternoon'

Well that would be very nice,' replied the person on the other end and I should dearly love to do so but my husband is home and I'm afraid he'd object Don't you think you've got the wrong number?'

Temporary Chairman Says Ohio Is Battleground This Year of Titanic Forces—Speaks of Work of Tariff Commission—Goes After Record of Harmon and Says He Wants Washington Office

Columbus O July —Temporary Chairman Nicholas Longworth delivered his keynote as follows

Gentlemen of the Convention

Ohio is the battleground this year of titanic forces Forces which will sway for good or evil the fate of the nation It is a conflict of principles first but personalities also Personalities will not mean everything but it will mean a great deal

Our Democratic opponents have nominated as head of their ticket a strong man make no mistake about that Whatever may be the principles which in our opinion would spell if adopted the ruination of this country Judson Harmon is nevertheless a big forceful individual a keen, shrewd politician always on the job a man of unlimited ambition with amazing confidence in himself and in his lucky star

Not content with nominating himself for governor he has nominated himself for president also There is nothing small about him

Confers Double Office

The proceedings of the convention which conferred upon him this double office revealed a most amazing state of facts It appears that if elected he does not intend to serve out his term as governor that is apparently too insignificant an office it might interfere with his bending all his energies toward securing the nomination for president from his party in the nation and so the program is frankly announced at the Democratic convention is that he shall resign after a few months and turn the office over to the candidate for lieutenant governor a gentleman by the name of Pomerene a very agreeable gentleman who I believe, is a lawyer in the city of Canton Here we have a case of two men, both in their own estimation at least too big for the office they are nominated to fill This is at least a refreshing novelty in Democratic politics

But will the people indorse this program? Will they consent to be used as stool pigeons to further the ambitions of these men? For one I can not believe it

Governor to be President Harmon says the campaign should be fought on state issues only Lieutenant Governor to be Governor Pomerene says that the Democrats ought to win on national issues This only adds to the novelty and delicious humor of the situation Harmon is running for president of the United States on local issues and Pomerene is running for governor of Ohio on national issues Can you find a parallel in recent political history?

Has Submitted Record

The governor may talk all he pleases about local issues but he has projected himself upon the national field He has submitted his record and his qualifications to the people not for a state office merely but for the highest office in their gift for the office held by Washington Lincoln and Roosevelt The people will have the right to ask—does he measure up?

Laying all other questions aside there is one thing in Judson Harmons career that disqualifies him for the presidency No man who has spent the active years of his professional life as an advocate of the interests of corporate wealth can ever bring to the presidency the single-minded devotion to interests of the people that capacity for seeing clearly then side of the question that they have the right to demand

If Governor Harmon has been an eminent and successful lawyer no man disputes He has gained fame and fortune as an advocate of the interests of corporations and principally of railroad corporations He has been the receiver of an important railroad for years and during at least a portion of his term as governor of the state for as governor he has not only continued to hold this position but has even left his office to appear in the courts in the advocacy of the interests of his private clients This may be proper accord-

SECRETARY MALLOY.

Keeps Tab on Proceedings of the Convention

would be an abdication with the constitutional powers of the house of representatives to originate all revenue measures, and would, in such a case, be held to exercise a continuous and unanimous initiative. It would seem on the whole that the only way to meet the provision which has been adopted is a happy compromise.

The plan has also been suggested upon the senate and council. First, that it put in operation the policy of the Republican platform, and second that it is responsible for the increase in the cost to the consumer of most articles of daily use. Republicans say that the Gorman proposed a reduction downward of the Dingley law, that instead of the increase which has been made in the cost of living and all the upward tendency is responsible for the increased cost of living. To bolster up their argument they have flooded the country with pieces of misleading information, statements and bombast with intention of convincing that if the senate could be controlled the people are bound to get a boon which way to turn to get relief.

Stood Reed Payne Law.

The only way to find out what the Democrats have in mind to do with the tariff laws is to read it. They say it is to be a well ordered proposition, but I think it is a bad case of "cross out of every line of Reed and Dingley and framing the law most every one of which we object so much as looked at."

Take the case of Dr. A. the chemical schools, the establishment of which the Democrats demanded reductions in some cases, to more than 50 per cent in the most important articles of daily use for the manufacture of which there is also desires further proof, but who assume the list of articles covered has grown to 4,661 in number and investigate how they are affected by the various changes of duty the fact is, that outside of cotton schedules there are actually no increases whatever in the duties upon articles used in everyday life at the time it is understood the means but on the contrary, there have been a large number of material reductions.

What the Republican party did was to increase the rates on things like silks, laces, pompons, fancy soaps, shoes and liquors, articles of luxury like all luxuries, pure and simple, and, in addition to impose a tax upon the incomes of corporations over $5,000 and $

Even now with the present law in force less than a year, instead of running behind are running ahead every day, so that instead of a balance against, at the close of the fiscal year, we have a balance in favor of nearly $10,000,000 and the old deficit has soon be a thing of the past.

What would be the effect on the people if on our people if the present Democratic program were carried out? Some of the Democratic leaders have proposed and it is not denied, to do away with the whole system of internal revenue taxation and revise the tariff. They would go line and steel and all the duties on the items of luxury would stand and all its pet list; and all food products, including wheat, coal, cattle, hides, boots, shoes, etc., be put on the free list. Now, this is a program, so far as we are concerned, appeal of workmen throughout the country engaged in the iron and steel industries. How does the proposed appeal to the Ohio people that the sum of $4 days at the Wilson rate would be worth 50 cents and in addition to the free hogs, free cattle and free coal? If he way to get all these things is to vote the Democratic ticket.

Adopts Food Costs More.

Any words about the new Dingley law could be considered unnecessary. No one denies that the cost of food has gone up. It is also admitted that the increase is due to the blame for this rests with the Republican party, and in casting about for something to blame the people have been encouraged upon her

In fact, the exact cause is not easily known. Not only have the articles which have not been increased in many cases they have been reduced, the lowered hundred per cent; some kinds of food products have gone up, and yet the duty has been lowered 50 per cent and upward, in a few cases, to more than 50 per cent in the most important articles of daily use for the manufacture of which there is also desires further proof, but who assume the list of articles covered has grown to 4,661 in number and investigate how they are affected by the various changes of duty the fact is, that outside of cotton schedules there are actually no increases whatever in the duties upon articles used in everyday life at the time it is understood the means but on the contrary, there have been a large number of material reductions.

MINORITY REPORT HAS BEEN FILED

By City Assessors Clemons and Criswell,

WITH THE STATE TAX COMMISSION

They Complain That the Action of the Majority of the Board in Reducing Valuations Twenty-Five Per Cent. Is Not Legal—Cost of the Appraisement.

A minority report, asking that the twenty-five per cent taken off the valuations for the city of Marion be again put on the tax duplicate, has been filed with the state tax commission by Members W A Clemons and Charles W Criswell, of the local city board of quadrennial assessors.

The fact was developed Friday as a result of the publication in Thursday's Star that there was a strong probability that the board of review, acting as a board of equalization and revision would reverse the action of the city board of quadrennial assessors by replacing the fourth of the total valuation recently sliced off through a majority vote of the board of assessors.

In their complaint to the state tax commission, City Assessors Clemons and Criswell maintain that the action of a majority of the board, in lowering the valuations twenty-five per cent after all assessments had been made at the true value in money, is not legal They set up that the board first agreed at the beginning to assess property, according to the state constitution, at its true value in money, and that a majority of the board can not change front and knock off the total valuations one-fourth when the assessments are completed No information has been received from the state tax commission since the filing of the report

Members of the city board of review disclaim any responsibility for the statement that they may put on the twenty-five per cent. taken off by the board of quadrennial assessors, and say they are not now bothering themselves about the matter, since it is in the hands of the state tax commission

However, in view of the fact that County Auditor Charles L. Allen states that there will not be sufficient revenue raised for the operating expenses of the city government under the present valuations, the indications are that the valuations will be materially increased, either by the state tax commission or the Marion board of review.

Up to July 1, the salaries of the five members of the city board of quadrennial assessors amounted to $2,576 50 In addition to this is the cost of supplies and other incidentals

The salaries of the seven village assessors who assessed property at its true value in money, amount to $1,310 50 In the townships, where the assessors assessed property at less than one-half its value, the salaries paid them amount to $3,855 Thus, so far, a total amount of $8,036 has been paid out in salaries, all the assessors receiving $3.50 a day The members of the city board of assessors, who are still working, are entitled to pay after July 1, under the ruling of Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, and by the time they complete their work the sum paid to them will be considerably over $2,870 50, the amount they had received up to July 1

ORIGINAL PAPERS IN WITCHCRAFT CASES

Inspected by Judge Norris at Salem, Massachusetts.

Judge C H Norris, who returned home on cards from Beverly, Massachusetts, where he purchased and drove back to Ohio a new Cameron Six cylinder automobile, did some rummaging of court records at Salem to satisfy his curiosity about some of the old "blue law" cases. He came across the original papers —indictments, etc,—in the witchcraft cases, in which nineteen people had been put to death

Judge Norris found, among other things a petition proposing that the witches be deported to Bermuda and traded for rum and tobacco.

DR. D. W. HENDERSON DEAD AT MARYSVILLE

Quite Well Known Throughout the County of Marion.

Dr. David W. Henderson, eighty-seven, thought to be the oldest practicing physician in the state, died last Saturday at his home in Marysville from a stroke of paralysis. He was born in Indiana county, Pennsylvania, but had lived in Marysville for seventy-three years, and had practiced medicine there for sixty years. He was very well known in Marion.

Dr. Henderson graduated from the O. W U. in 1847 and the Starling Medical college at Columbus in 1852. He was a veteran of the Mexican war, and served through the civil war as a surgeon with the Ninety-Sixth Ohio Volunteer infantry. He was a prominent Democrat, and was a delegate to the national presidential convention that nominated William Jennings Bryan the first time.

Dr. Henderson is survived by a widow and one son, Dr. Lutrelle Henderson, of Marysville.

The funeral services were held from his home in Marysville at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, and were in charge of the Knights Templars.

ALLEGED RINGLEADER OF THE NEWARK MOB

Is a Former Resident of the City of Marion.

A FORMER EMPLOYE OF SHOVEL COMPANY

While a Resident of This City, He Makes His Home with His Brother-in-Law, Charles Houston, on West Church Street—His Mother Dies in This City.

The alleged ringleader of the mob that hanged Carl M Etherington, the dry detective, at Newark, and who was placed under arrest at the home of his brother-in-law at Harper, Logan county, Friday, is a former Marion man. He is Joseph Bush, thirty years old, who seven years ago was employed as a laborer by the Marion Steam Shovel company.

Bush, who is said to have secured the rope and looped it around the young detective's neck, lived with his brother-in-law, Charles Houston, on west Church street, near Blaine avenue. He was not well known in this city, as he was not that kind of a person known as a "good mixer" He was a steady workman, but somewhat wild in his habits, say those who knew him when he lived in Marion. His mother died at her home on Kenton avenue, this city.

When Charles Houston and his family moved from Marion to Logan county, Bush also left Marion He has not lived here since, so far as known It is not known how long he had been in Newark, but it is said that he had been at his brother-in-law's home only since the lynching. He was captured in a raid on the Houston home by the authorities of Logan county, Thursday night, as stated in Friday's Star.

GUILTY OF JUMPING HIS BOARD BILL

PREPARING FOR THE MERCHANTS' OUTING

Which Will Be Run to Cedar Point August 2.

BIGGEST OUTING EVER GIVEN BY MERCHANTS

Is Being Planned by the Committee Having the Arrangements in Charge—Annual Outings of the Merchants Are Becoming More Popular Year After Year.

Preparations are being completed for the merchants annual excursion which will be run to Cedar Point from this place, Tuesday, August 2

The executive committee of the Merchants' association held a meeting at the Y M. C. A. building, Thursday evening, to complete the arrangements for the annual outing which will be run to the Point over the Pennsylvania lines Special trains will leave Marion at 6 45 and 7 o'clock, and on the return the trains will leave Sandusky at the same hours in the evening.

Every effort is being made by the committee in charge to make this excursion the largest and best ever given by the association The accommodations will be better than ever before, and preparations are being made to take a larger crowd from Marion and the surrounding vicinity than on any previous excursion run by the merchants of the city.

These annual outings are becoming very popular among the business men of the city as a day of recreation and rest, and everything is being done by them to encourage and make these affairs a success.

The fare is low enough to be within the reach of everybody, only $1 2. for adults and sixty-five cents for children.

FIGHTING THE FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN; WESTERN CANADA ALSO SUFFERS SEVERELY

Merrill, Wis., July 25.—The worst forest fires ever known in this part of Wisconsin have been devastating great tracts of lands for days and have hemmed in and cut off from the outside world the people of several towns The people of Heineman fled to Bloomville where they and the 550 residents of that town were cut off from escape, the fires raging all around the place. Gleason, north of Bloomville also was isolated. At Galloway and vicinity the fire covered an area ten miles long and three miles wide Wausau and New London steamers have fought the fires, but with slight success. Millions of feet of valuable timber have been destroyed The problem of food supply is a severe one, particularly at Bloomville, with its population largely augmented by refugees from other points. Losses from forest fires in several districts in British Columbia are reported Fire wardens have impressed every available man to help check the spread of the flames, which have eaten up already several millions of dollars' worth of timber. No sooner is one fire under control than another breaks out. The situation is serious both in Wisconsin and western Canada.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE FITS MANY SITUATIONS

Seems To Be an Elastic Diplomatic Garment.

EASY TO GET MEN FOR PANAMA CANAL

Old Age Pensions Are Advocated by Congressman Ludin, of Illinois. Makes Careful Investigation of Plan Used in Foreign Country. Some Customs Offices Expensive.

Washington, July 25.—Recent diplomatic developments and international discussions involving the attitude of European powers—especially Germany—toward Nicaragua have brought the Monroe doctrine into the world's spot light again and the impression is strong that it will soon be given a new application.

The Monroe doctrine is an elastic diplomatic garment—not so elastic as the popular imagination depicts it, but capable of so much stretching, when occasion demands, that it will fit a multitude of situations however different. There has not been an administration, since its inception in which this guiding principle has not been hauled out of its historic recesses to do service in connection with one difficulty or another, and indications are that President Taft's will be no exception from this rule.

The Monroe doctrine is already spoken of as a most suitable diplomatic habiliment to enfold the international eyesore, into which the chaos of Nicaragua is fast developing, while the United States restores order and sets the struggling republic on its feet again. Agitation has already begun, too, in the Pan-American conference on the part of the Latin-American governments which owe much of their development to its existence, to make the doctrine—now merely a declaration of the United States—a guiding principle for the entire western hemisphere. Such a political profession of faith would mark a new era for the two Americas.

Coat of Many Colors.

There is little doubt that the Monroe doctrine of the present day contains much that was not contemplated by the president who first gave it formal expression. Each administration, in a crisis, has tacked a new meaning on it or stretched an old meaning to greater lengths until it has become a coat of many colors, but none the less a stout garment, and showing no sign of wear.

President Monroe, in his message of December 2, 1823, said:

"The occasion has been judged proper for asserting as a principle in which the rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent conditions which they have assumed and maintain, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European powers. We owe it, therefore, to candor, and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers, to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or in controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power, or in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

The Police Power.

Briefly the Monroe doctrine, as so uttered, declared against the interposition of European powers in the affairs of the American states, the particular kind of interposition being that undertaken for the purpose of controlling their political affairs and of extending to this hemisphere the system in operation on the continent of Europe.

Out of the Monroe doctrine, Luis M. Drago, Argentine minister of foreign affairs, evolved the now famous Drago doctrine, declaring that "the public debt cannot occasion armed intervention nor even the actual occupation of the territory of American nations by a European power." This naturally led to another question. If the United States expressly declared against the occupation of American territory by a European power, who is going to take the matter in charge when a country, much the same as Nicaragua now finds herself, persists in such a course that there is no prospect that its debts will ever be paid or its just international obligations fulfilled?

President Roosevelt, in answer to this, tacked on another patch to the Monroe doctrine, giving expression to the function of "police power" to be exercised by the United States in such contingencies.

Chronic Wrong-Doing.

"Chronic wrong-doing," he said in his message of December 6, 1904, "or an impotence which results in a general loosening of the ties of civilized society, may in America, as elsewhere, ultimately require intervention by some civilized nation, and in the western hemisphere the adherence of the United States to the Monroe doctrine may force the United States, however reluctantly, in flagrant cases of such wrong-doing or impotence, to the exercise of an international police power."

It may be for President Taft, in dealing with the Nicaraguan situation, to formulate still another phase of the Monroe doctrine which has not yet come into view in the diplomatic experiences of the United States.

Although President Monroe's name is attached to the doctrine, the principle underlying it goes further back, even to the beginning of the United States. Washington, in his farewell address, declared that the policy of the United States was to avoid entangling alliances with European powers. The Republican form of government was, in contradistinction to the monarchical form prevailing in Europe, an ideal for which the colonists had fought and to which they were passionately attached. Anything threatening that ideal was to be looked upon as a foe.

The Holy Alliance.

When, therefore, the holy alliance was formed of the foremost European powers, with the exception of Great Britain, the fledgling republic held aloof with some suspicion of its purposes; and, when the alliance threatened to support Spain in maintaining its grasp upon its American colonies, which were fast slipping through her fingers, the occasion for the declaration of the Monroe doctrine first arose though the sentiment underlying it had developed long before.

With that declaration the effort of Europe to dominate the world was curtailed. The United States took its place as a world power and the American ideal of government, as distinguished from that of Europe, assumed its sphere of control.

A similarly momentous change inevitably will take place in the orient when China rises to assert her individuality. The world will then be dominated by those spheres of diplomatic influence—European, the American and the far eastern. The last undoubtedly being under the guidance of China and Japan. The Monroe doctrine is the political gospel of the Western Hemisphere. That of the Far Eastern is yet to be enunciated.

Laborers Easily Secured.

The digging of the Panama Canal has reversed the condition regarding labor which confronted the United States at the outset of the big task. No longer, according to the reports from the Isthmus is it necessary to send agents abroad to contract for labor. Despite the great number needed for the work voluntary immigration from Greece, Italy, Spain, Costa Rica, Cuba, Colombia and Venezuela now is sufficient to supply all demand for the big force.

The volume of immigration in the case of the European laborers has increased nearly 1,000 per cent. and in the case of the West Indians, over fifty per cent., as compared with the first six months of 1909.

Nearly every vessel sailing from a foreign port brings an additional lot of laborers, and within the past few months immigration among the Greeks and Italians has been steadily increasing. As near as can be estimated about fifty per cent. of the steerage passengers from Europe, at the present time, are Spaniards, while the remaining fifty per cent. is more or less equally divided between Greek and Italians.

Practice Lessens.

Formerly the stowaway class constituted quite a factor in the immigration movement and there is a case on record where a vessel arrived at Colon with 288 stowaways on board including a number of women. At that time laborers were in demand on the canal works, and under the agreement with the Republic of Panama respecting the importation of labor, the stowaways were allowed to land without the requisiste amount of cash, and a large number of them went to work on the canal. For some time past, however, stowaways have been returned to the countries from which they embarked, which has discouraged the practice to a great extent, and caused steamship officials to be more alert. Stowaways have been especially numerous on the islands of Barbados, stealing on deck unseen, or going on board on some fictitious errand and hiding themselves as the opportunity offered while the vessel lay at anchor on cargo.

With the present surplusage of European labor on the Isthmus the commission has been compelled to hold to the rule of filling vacancies in the labor ranks from the contract men, whenever contract men are without work.

Old Age Pensions.

Old age pensions in foreign countries have been the subject of investigation by Congressman Frederick Lundin, representative of Illinois. He finds that they have proved successful and he is hopful that some such provision for the care of the aged may be made in the United States.

"Germany was the pioneer in the movement," he says, "with a law passed in 1889; amended in 1891 and perfected in 1899. The present law covers twenty-five per cent. of the population and is compulsory in many instances and voluntary in some. The pension is granted up to $57.50 a year, according to class and weekly premium paid. Beyond seventy years of age no incapacity need be shown to avail the beneficiary his or her pension.

"Denmark fell into line in 1891. All persons over sixty years of age are eligible to pension benefits, with certain limitations as to residence, health and record of citizenship.

"Laws were passed in New Zealand at intervals from 1897 to 1908, when all of them consolidated to create a liberal and enlightened system. Sixty-five years is the pension age, and to all those who are without a minimum competence and can show thirty-five years' honorable residence in New Zealand the government pays $2.50 weekly.

Cost Per Capita.

"The cost per capita of population is small. The benefits conferred are great and not only redound to the benefit of pensioners, but to that of society in general.

"Belgium adopted an insurance annuity and nationally sustained pension act in 1900. Annuities are granted according to age and amount of premium paid. Pensions are paid to all over sixty-five years of age under certain prescribed conditions of want and disability.

"Italy, France and Austria are operating systems of annuities and pensions. Old age relief is recognized in these countries as an institution of worth, and the system can not fail to grow with the advance of the times.

"Australia probably presents the best example of growth and modernization of the old-age pension idea. The general plan there is about as follows: Men over sixty-five and women over fifty are pensioned at the rate of $2.50 and two dollars a week, respectively. Restrictions pertaining to income, residence and character surround the application of the law most effectively. I am in receipt of a letter from the American consul at Newcastle, New South Wales, in which he says:

The General Opinion.

"'It is the general opinion that these pensions are a very good thing and that these laws are working out satisfactorily. In order to see for myself the people receive their pensions, I was present the first of this month and saw a large number of them paid. They appeared to be a most respectful lot of old people, and I feel certain the money allowed them each month by the government is judiciously expended.'

"After years of consideration England adopted an old-age pension law in 1908. Under its provisions all persons over seventy years of age are pensionable, if they meet the requirements of regulations as to income, habits and character. The amounts paid run from twenty-five cents to $1.25 weekly.

"Canada passed an annuity law in 1908. Under it people beyond the age of fifty-five years may draw from $50 to $600 annually. It is a government insurance proposition pure and simple, and dependent upon premiums; but as a step, is encouraging to every believer in the humane policy of making provision for old age a matter of governmental regulation.

Expensive Luxuries.

Some of the most expensive luxuries, comparatively speaking, maintained by Uncle Sam are small customs houses, according to figures just made public. Scattered about the country are about 100 custom stations. Through them the government collects the tariff on imported goods and various assessments on the merchants. A large majority of the customs houses are extremely profitable, and they garner nearly one-third of the money spent by billion dollar congresses.

Customs receipts at Port Jefferson, New York, were so small, being nothing at all, that collector Arthur H. Randall sought to surrender the post. For five years he struggled to surrender the shackles of the office. The treasury department would fain grant him freedom, but can not find anybody to take the place. The department relented a short time ago, gave Randall freedom, closed the office and transacted the business, if there should be any, to New York.

Collectors Easily Found.

There are other ports where no difficulty is found in securing collectors even if there is little or no business. Some of these where the receipts aggregated nothing last year, with the expense of maintaining them, are as follows: Tappahannock, Virginia, $664; Yaquina, Oregon, $1,034; Beaufort, North Carolina $1,550; Bridgeton, New Jersey, with seven employes, $2,123; Cairo, Illinois $434; Galena, Illinois, $465; Little Egg Harbor New Jersey, $438; Nantucket, Massachusetts, $362; Paducah, Kentucky, $549, and Patchogue, New York, $668.

Tab is kept by the government on every custom house to find the cost of collecting the revenue. Annapolis had customs receipts of $3.09 last year and the cost to the government of collecting each dollar was $309.41. There was considerable vessel business at Alexandria, Virginia, but the total customs receipts amounted to only $10 and on that basis the cost of collection on each dollar was $122.49. The amount paid for each dollar collected at some other points were: Natchez, Mississippi, $52.76; St. Marys, Georgia, $45.46; Saco, Maine, $11.16; Great Egg Harbor, New Jersey, $25.14; Rock Island, Illinois, $23.68; Teche, Louisiana, $23.45 and Portsmouth, New Hampshire, $16.12.

Created by Congress.

In the large ports the expense to the government in collection of a dollar ranges from a little over two cents to five cents. In New York last year the cost per dollar was 2.2 cents and the aggregate receipts were $202,675,809. The average cost of collection in the country was 3.4 cents.

Customs houses are created by congress and can be abolished only by the same authority. In the interest of economy secretaries of the treasury have recommended that collectors be abolished at ports where there seems to be not enough business to justify the expense. Members in congress, however, have steadfastly refused to rob towns in their states of the prestige of having customs houses and, besides, they afford some thing in the way of patronage.

A RICHWOOD BOY COMMITS SUICIDE

Takes His Life at Dayton Some Time Sunday Morning.

Richwood, O., July 25.—[Special.]—Charles Fletcher, aged nineteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Fletcher, committed suicide at Dayton, Sunday morning. He was found dead at 7 o'clock in the morning, having taken a quantity of laudanum. No reason is assigned for his rash act.

The boy came to this place two years ago with his parents from Charleston, West Virginia, and was a baker by trade. Six weeks ago he went to Dayton to work, and was home on a visit three weeks ago and seemed in his usual spirits. His parents were prostrated by the news.

The remains were brought to Richwood this morning.

EFFIE BELLE BROTHERS DIES MONDAY MORNING

At the Family Residence on Scranton Avenue.

Effie Belle, aged about three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claudius Brothers, died of complications resulting from the measles at the family residence, on Scranton avenue, Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The funeral services were held at the Brothers home, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, followed by interment in the Marion cemetery.

Well Known Here.

Mrs. Edward A. Miller and son left, Saturday, for Fostoria to attend the funeral of J. P. Repp, who died at his home there, Thursday. Mr. Repp at one time resided in this city, and is quite well known here.

Pocket Picked.

While at Cedar Point, Saturday, with the Marion Steam Shovel company's excursionists, Emmet Hollingshead, of Barnhart street, had his pocket picked to the tune of $16. He was in a crowd at the time.

Deputy Sheriff Cornelius Breen has received a postcard from W. B. DeVeny, who states that he expects to locate at Portland, Oregon, and move his family there. Mr. DeVeny was formerly proprietor of the Racket store.

GOVERNOR CARROLL OF IOWA TO FIGHT CRIMINAL LIBEL INDICTMENT

Des Moines, Ia., July 25.—Governor B. F. Carroll, of Iowa, who was indicted for criminal libel by the Polk county grand jury, is going to fight the case. The indictment is the outgrowth of an investigation by the grand jury of affairs at the Iowa Industrial School for Girls at Mitchellville. It is alleged in the bill that the governor made libelous statements concerning John Cownie, former chairman of the state board of control, in an article published in the Des Moines Capital of May 24, in which the governor set forth at length his reasons for demanding the resignation of Mr. Cownie. The governor is at liberty without bond.

DELVAN CYPHERS DEAD AT MARTEL

Succumbs to Tuberculosis at Home of Father.

Martel, O., July 25.—[Special.]—Delvan Cyphers, aged sixteen years and twenty-one days, died of tuberculosis at the home of his father, J. E. Cyphers, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. His mother died of tuberculosis five years ago.

The youth was a patient sufferer, and knowing that he had not long to live, frequently said to those who came to see him, "Let the Father's will be done." He is survived by his father.

The funeral services were held at the Disciple church, this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. J. E. Johnson, of Marion, officiating. Burial took place at Iberia.

FASHIONS AND FADS.

Paris dressmakers are recommending Hindu embroideries and printed designs. These Eastern patterns are employed in numerous ways.

For informal visiting, traveling, motting about, the short narrow skirt with the accompanying short jacket is the mode of the hour.

There is a disposition to finish all varieties of voiling with hems, or in some cases with narrow chantilly or light weight edgings.

The latest wrap is a sort of dolman, made of all-over lace in either black or white. Some are bordered with chiffon and lace bandings.

Fine edgings are used on trills of net, malines or tulle, a great deal of malines by itself is going into ruffs and flat shoulder scarfs.

Some of the little neck pieces of collarless gowns are of silk covered with violets or some small blossoms that are dainty and dressy.

In dress materials there are Paisley silks, cottons, foulards, chiffons and velvets; and perhaps the very latest thing is Paisley shantung.

Good results are secured by the combination of contrasting materials, and this fashion is having a tremendous vogue at the present time.

The old-fa honed mixture of Paisley and fringe is shown in most of the shops in many articles of clothing and other accessories that women use.

Etamine linen—in lovely shades of wisteria, soft greens, wedgewood blues, saxe blue, Cull reds corn yellow etc.,—is ideal for the skirt and coat suit.

Attractive waists for summer are made of eyelet embroidery or of white linon, embroidered in brown dots. Belts, ties, and stockings should match the color of the dots.

A morning blouse of any white material may be set off by a yoke and cuffs of the new mustard shade, or of blue and should be worn with a belt of the same shade.

Evening gowns are simple. They show the influence of the peasant style. Instead of being on splendid lines with gorgeous ornamentation they are unusually simple.

Many tunics are seen. They are not short, as they were last year, but they drop well down to the hem, or at least over the knees. They are of chiffon or mousseline.

Croutons made of rye bread are a pleasing change.

PEARL V. JOHNSTON AND CHARLES HUDSON

Are Married by Rev. George M. Rourke, Saturday Night.

Miss Pearl V. Johnston, of Agosta, and Mr. Charles B. Hudson, of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. George M. Rourke, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at his home on south Main street, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Among those witnessing the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Morarity, of Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Block, of Agosta; Miss Grace Cronan, Miss Vena Johnston, Mr. S. J. Hudson and George E. Hudson.

Both the bride and groom are quite well known in this city, the groom being employed as a draftsman for the Marion Steam Shovel company.

The bride is a daughter of ex-Deputy Sheriff A. C. Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson will make their home in this city.

CHOLERA INFANTUM CAUSES THE DEATH

Of Thirteen-Months-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brodbeck.

Vonnamae, the thirteen-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Brodbeck, of south Grand avenue, died at the home of her parents, at noon Monday of cholera infantum, of which the little one had suffered for only one day. The parents and two little sisters, Ida Evelyn and Mildred, survive.

The funeral was held from the Brodbeck home, Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the burial was made in the Marion cemetery.

Pike Is Completed.

Contractor M. W. Shaw, of this city, has finished the pike north from Mt. Gilead. The work started at the Mt. Gilead corporation line and ended about three and one-half miles north, costing about $4,000 a mile, or a total of $14,000. Of this amount, $6,000 were paid by the contractor for crushed stone, 1,600 wagons loads of which were used. It is said to be a beautiful and well-constructed pike. Contractor Shaw will now finish the Cardington pike, three miles north of Mt. Gilead.

Teachers' Examinations.

On account of the county and teachers' joint institute to be held here, Tuesday, August 22, the city school examiners will hold their mid-summer examination, Wednesday and Thursday, August 10 and 11, instead of Wednesday and Thursday, August 24 and 25. They will also hold an additional examination, Wednesday and Thursday, August 31 and September 1.

Mayor Seiter rendered his verdict, Monday morning in the case of Bert Briggs, colored, charged with selling intoxicants at his home on Grant street. The mayor found Briggs guilty of the charge against him, and imposed a fine of $100 and costs. Attorneys Eymon & Thompson and F. W. Warner, for the defendant, filed a motion for a new trial, the motion being overruled by the mayor. The motion of the defendant's attorneys to suspend execution of judgment pending the decision of the higher court was sustained by the mayor, and Briggs was released by furnishing a bond of $200.

Even when there is cream in the coffee, stains can be removed from the most delicate silk or woolen fabrics by brushing the spots with pure glycerine and rinsing in lukewarm water.

A large bunch of sweet clover in a closed room will drive the flies away when the room is opened later. A few drops of oil of lavender will serve the same purpose.

To clean plaster of paris figures and plaques, make a strong solution of saleratus in water, stand the figure in and dash the water over it, touching every crevice.

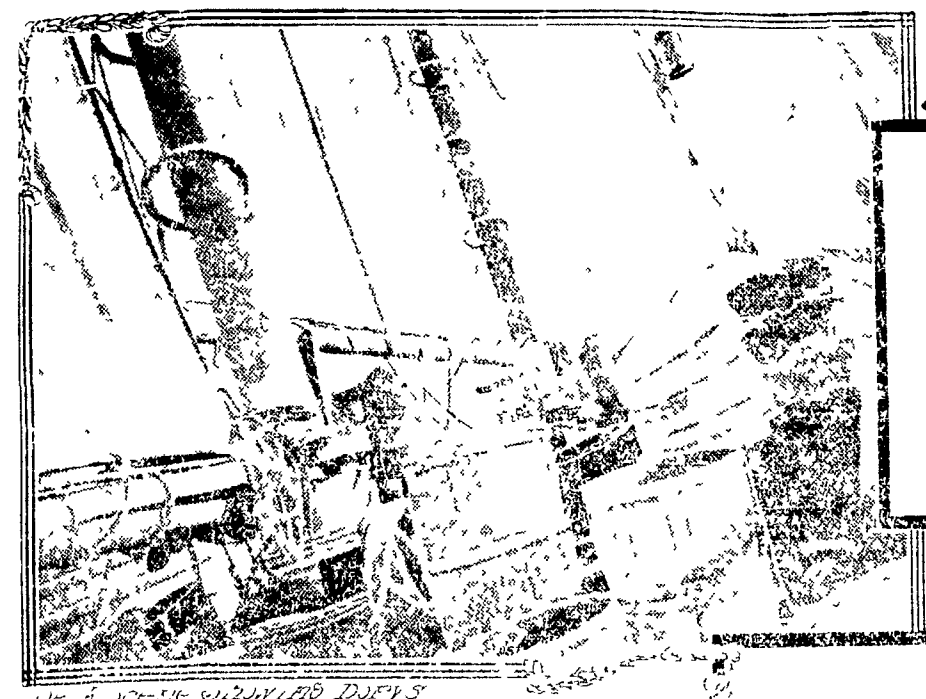
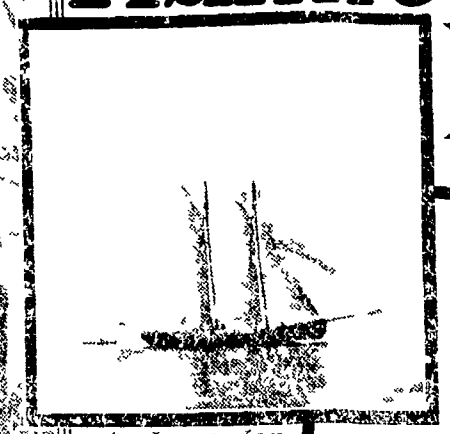
FISHING WITH DEATH

by Thomas Wilson



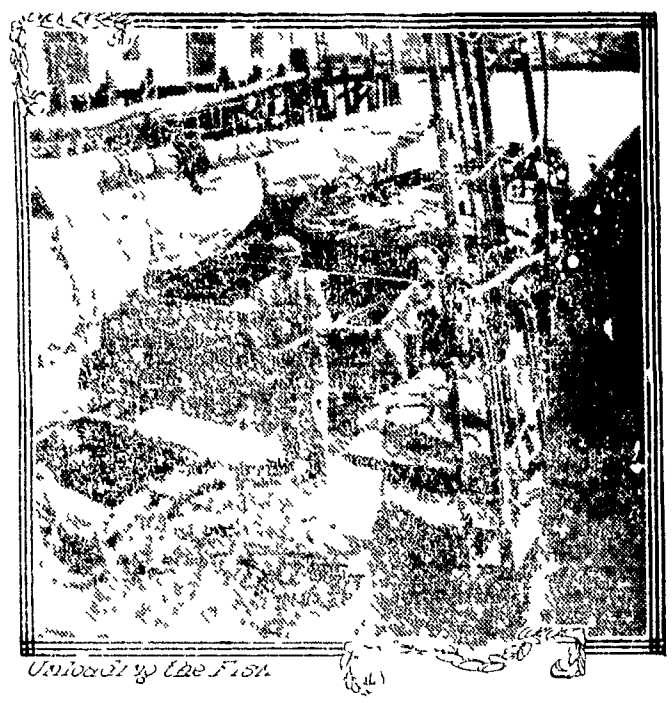
In a Gloucester Dory's Liquid Tube Etc



A Gloucester Fishing Schooner

A Grand Banks Sea

Dory Hen



Unload'g the Fish

Disasters at sea are not confined to the fog that envelops the Grand Banks at this season of the year. Those who seek the Banks in the interest of the fish which they yield are subject to many dangers at all times of the year.

Every year we count those lost in the stormy waters there by the hundreds, and fleets and lives in the open sea all have to help the struggling fishermen, which is often left to battle alone while the merciless waves claim their victims.

The moving of the steamer truck across the Isthmus of Panama further to the south has done much to take away the dangers of navigation in one of the greatest highways of the globe, for ships can now pass through the fog spots in a matter of from 10 to 15 minutes and the voyage is cut down several hours because of the little time it takes to go into the Panama Canal.

Nevertheless, into the fishing fleets of the Banks, both in the Canadian and American waters, there are still many instructions to be learned, and at first thought seem to be serious, but that is largely because of the view of the ill-fated boat as it is seen from the deck. Only one such disaster need tell the story. Only one such instance of a vessel sailing into port with the evidence of collision with the ice. The craft invariably disappear and are lost in the passing.

Fishing fleets are to New England from Canada, Newfoundland and the Dutch provinces of Lattimus and Nova Scotia, in the North Sea, to the countries visited by its waters, and they extend all the way from the coast of Massachusetts, this side of 1,000 miles. The Banks have been known to fishermen for centuries, as well as the fact that there south of these seas a vast and well was discovered by John Cabot in 1497.

Fishing is done on the banks between April and October, during which time nearly 1,000 vessels, the American, Canadian and French, assisted by crews of heroic men, are engaged in the work.

And the toll of the sea by the heavy hand of the storm at the end of the days will be a terrible one. Hundreds of lives will there be sacrificed, while the loss of vessels and destruction could fill a book and furnish many pictures by the time a month has passed. In the list of disasters with each year there can be found hundreds of vessels that have left port, never to be heard of, and crews have been swept overboard and lost, and so filled our land by the newspapers no words on the subject by a mere enumeration.

During a hurricane in June 1905 a big French trawler carrying a crew of 19 men was sighted driving before the blast. On the vessel the word that the crew. The fleet had run to the lee of the land when the storm broke. While it went the trawler rode out one of the crew will never be sure when the gale subsided there was nothing to tell the tale. Not to the trawler the fishermen and not a man suffered a common death.

Now and then a vessel reaches port and is found, partly somewhere on the coast, with the keel of the ill-fated boat several feet above the water, but few are the cases of this kind, those instructors of the days that at first thought seem to be serious, but that is largely because of the view of the ill-fated boat as it is seen from the deck. Only one such instance of a vessel sailing into port with the evidence of collision with the ice. The craft invariably disappear and are lost in the passing.

Fishing fleets are to New England from Canada, Newfoundland and the Dutch provinces of Lattimus and Nova Scotia, in the North Sea, to the countries visited by its waters, and they extend all the way from the coast of Massachusetts, this side of 1,000 miles. The Banks have been known to fishermen for centuries, as well as the fact that there south of these seas a vast and well was discovered by John Cabot in 1497.

MARRIED LIFE OF CRAMERS UNHAPPY

The Husband Goes into Court Seeking a Divorce

MAKES SOME VERY NASTY ALLEGATIONS

Wife Alleged To Have Led a Very Gay Life Before Her Departure to the Blue Grass State—Injunction Allowed in the Mantz Case—The Carhart Matter

Alleging immoral conduct and gross neglect of duty Ora Cramer through Attorney F J Myers brought an action for divorce from Mame Cramer Saturday in the common pleas court In his long petition the plaintiff sets up that he was married to the defendant at Kenton February 13 1906 and that no children were born to them He says that he has always been a dutiful and loving husband but that, for more than three years his wife has evinced a spiteful disposition toward him cursing and swearing at him almost all the time without fault or provocation on his part

The plaintiff avers that his wife began to keep company with divers and sundry men of the vicinity where they lived frequently going riding in a buggy with them at night in unfrequented parts of the county and returning home at an early hour in the morning He declares that she refused to prepare his meals for him and once in a rage of frenzy, destroyed two of his suits of clothes valued at $40 Finally, July 1 1908 she abandoned him he says while he was at work, and came to Marion where she walked the streets a greater part of the time then went to Columbus, and later to Kentucky

In the suit of Lucinda Miller against Susana Conklin the plaintiff through Attorneys DeGolier & DeGolier, has filed his first amended petition again setting up that Catherine Plank was not mentally competent to deed sixty seven acres in Waldo township to the defendant July 18, 1908 She was infirm at the time the pretended deed of conveyance was made and mentally weak owing to her advanced age It is claimed The plaintiff asks that the deed be set aside and held for naught

In a petition filed in the common pleas court Saturday by William G Mantz through Attorneys DeGolier & DeGolier wherein the Toledo Computing Scale company is made defendant, the plaintiff admits that the defendant obtained a judgment by default against him May 16 last, for $61 90 together with $9 65 costs, in a certain action then pending on appeal from the court of Justice Charles H Conley He asserts, however, that the judgment was obtained without producing to the court any testimony or evidence in support of the petition and without any notice to him He asks that the judgment be vacated and for a temporary injunction restraining the enforcement of the judgment The temporary injunction was allowed by Judge W F Scofield and Mantz being permitted to maintain a defense in court, then filed a motion asking that the suit of the Toledo Computing Scale company against him be dismissed

An answer and cross petition was filed by the First National bank of Richwood, through Attorney Fred L Carhart, in the common pleas court Saturday in the suit of Fred L Carhart against Arthur F Benedict The Richwood bank asks that the property described in the petition be sold and that its claim of $75 64 obtained as a judgment in the court of Justice H Conley be paid out of the proceeds

FINE TIME IS HAD AT CEDAR POINT

By Marion Steam Shovel Excursionists Saturday

THE CROWD AT THE POINT IS A WHOPPER

Therefore the Day Is the More Enjoyable for Some, While Others Would Have Been Just as Well Satisfied Had There Been Fewer Excursionists at the Point

We enjoyed ourselves but then the crowd was too big That is the way some of the 2 500 people who went on the twenty second annual excursion of the Marion Steam Shovel company Saturday to Cedar Point expressed themselves on their day's outing On the other hand there were many who enjoyed the crowd It was a whopper and we had the finest time ever was the way one enthusiast explained it The fact that there were two other excursions at the point added to the enjoyment of the latter class of excursionists

There were no accidents worthy of mention despite the crowd and although the Pennsylvania company was handicapped by lack of coaches at this point reasonable service was given and under the circumstances the people enjoyed themselves thoroughly only after they reached the point All of the trains leaving here Saturday morning were crowded to the limit and at Sandusky when the transfer was made to the boats for Cedar Point conditions were somewhat congested but after the point was reached the people began to enjoy the day

At the point the bathing was excellent At noon dinner was served in the grove Various amusements were enjoyed and the afternoon was spent ideally The weather was nice and everything that might add to the pleasure of the excursionists was afforded

On the return trip four additional coaches were added to the last train and conditions were materially bettered

The last train arrived here about 10 o'clock
